CITY HOUSING GROUP ACTS TO AID VETERANS

Move To Make Properties Available at Reasonable Figure.

Marion's emergency housing committee, meeting for the first time since its establishment by Mayor Harry L. Dowler, went to bat for the homeless GI last night in an appeal to the public to keep down the price of houses and real estate to veterans.

The appeal was made in the form of a vote by the 35-man committee, which asked that in the sale of property to veterans property owners keep the price within reason.

Andrews Is Chairman

Earl J. Andrews, chairman of the emergency housing committee, pointed out however, that veterans should not make appeals to the committee asking for priorities on building materials or other housing issues, since the authority of the committee still was not clearly defined and members are awaiting further information from the national housing agency.

Primary purpose of last night's meeting was one of preliminary organization and discussion, although subcommittees were established which will make a survey of available building sites and lots and a general check on the housing needs in Marion.

Respond to Request

The survey is in accordance with a request from Wilson W. Wyatt, national housing expediter and administrator, national housing agency, who proposed such a survey be made. The local emergency housing committee is expected to act as a contact for the national housing agency.

The next meeting will be held on call, Chairman Andrews said, and will be scheduled after additional information from the national agency has been received and the survey of local housing needs completed.

CLEVELAND, April 27 — Notice to proceed on conversion and delivery of temporary housing accommodations for married veterans living in Mansfield was issued today by Charles B. Lawrence Jr., regional director of the Federal Housing Authority.

The W. B. Gibson Co., Warren, O., contractor, was instructed to proceed on conversion of 72 temporary housing units for married veterans in Mansfield. Twelve prefabricated portable steel barracks will be moved from the Marion, O., Engineers depot to the Charles Hill resident center at Mifflin, O., and re-erected and converted into family units. Twelve buildings at the resident center also will be converted.

SNYDER NOT HOPEFUL OF COAL PEACE SOON

By The Associated Press

QUANTICO, Va., April 27—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder said today he saw no prospect of an early end to the soft coal strike as he boarded the presidential yacht to discuss the shutdown with President Truman.

Snyder chatted briefly with reporters at the docks before going out to the Williamsburg, anchored in the Potomac river.

He said the 27-year-old strike is having an increasingly serious effect on reconversion but was unable to offer any tangible hope for a settlement at this time.

Spokesmen for steel firms in Pittsburgh said rapidly shrinking coal reserves threaten complete shutdown of many industrial plants unless John L. Lewis' 400,000 bituminous workers return to the pits quickly.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach continued his efforts in Washington to bring about a resumption of the contract negotiations which Lewis broke off 17 days ago.

Mr. Truman and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower talked at length aboard the Williamsburg yesterday about the Army's personnel problem, arising from recent house action in tying a five-month draft "holiday" to a bill to extend Selective Service nine months.

Radio Says 50 Germans Die Weekly in Russian Zone; Conditions Deplored.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 27—The Vatican radio, citing a "report" of an unidentified eyewitness, says that 50 Germans are perishing each week in camps in the Russian occupation zone of eastern Germany amid widespread conditions of disease, plunder, starvation and rape.

"The German press is not allowed to mention the extent of the suffering," declared the broadcast, recorded last night in London. "Only the church has the power to raise its voice before the world.

"Many of the priests who have shared their bread with the refugees are too weak to celebrate a service. Added to the great physical suffering is the great spiritual burden. There is no food, no blankets, no medicine, no nothing.

"In camps built to accommodate 2,000 to 4,000 some 50 people die each week."

Says Children Suffer

The broadcast said children in the area were suffering and that cries for help were going up from "girls and women who are being brutally raped and whose bodily and spiritual health is completely shaken, so that they are unable to give birth to a healthy child.

"There are no doctors to cope with venereal diseases, and if there were any, there are no medicines," the radio said.

"The eastern half of the Russian zone has been thoroughly plundered," it continued. "There are not even seeds for the coming year. Only some two to four per cent of the cattle is still there.

"Thousands of children have for a year been without any teaching. They just vegetate, are undernourished, broken in body and spirit."

In describing the transfer of "some 5,500,000 persons" from the eastern part of the zone to new homes in the west, the broadcast said.

"Their suffering is immense, horrible and can not be expressed in figures.

Two-Way Radio for Freight Trains To Be Tested by Erie

Tests of Bendix two-way space radio-telephone will be made by the Erie Railroad starting early next week to determine the usefulness of radio-telephone communication in railroad train operation, H. D. Barber, operating vice president, announced today.

This is the second test of radio train communication to be made on the Erie. The necessary equipment required for the test will be installed on one of the Erie's 5,400 horsepower Diesel locomotives operating out of Marion, a steel caboose and at four wayside stations.

Barber pointed out that although radio communication will represent an additional safety device, its principal use is in expediting train movements. Instructions and other information can be given directly to a moving train crew, thereby eliminating delays and increasing efficiency.

Messages will be radioed between a moving locomotive and caboose, and between train and wayside stations while enroute between Marion, and Meadville, Pa. in which territory radio-telephone equipment will be installed in wayside stations at Kent, Leavittsburg, Shenango and Meadville.

The equipment to be used in this test operates on nearly the same principles as the ordinary home radio set except that a very high frequency band recently assigned to the exclusive use of the railroads will be used with the addition of facilities to enable the operators to send messages as well as receive them.

The installation is very simple, consisting of a combination transmitter-receiver, a battery power supply, antenna, a loudspeaker, and a control unit with either a microphone or a telephone handset. In sending a message the operator merely picks up the microphone or telephone handset, presses a button on the instrument and calls the station or train desired in a normal speaking voice. His call is heard over all loudspeakers on trains or in wayside stations within range of the radio telephone unit. Immediately after making his call he releases the button and his set becomes a receiver over which he listens for an answer. After receiving reply to his call a two-way conversation may be carried on.

In charge of the tests for the Erie are Lieut. Col. F. H. Menagh, superintendent of communications, and G. E. McKinney, electrical engineer.

The equipment being tested is manufactured by Bendix Radio of Baltimore, Md., with P. H. Kreager, sales engineer, representing that company.

The board also approved the police pension payroll of $1,206.88.

Prosecutor Sees New Angles in Wreck Fatal to 44; Hearing Is Delayed.

By The Associated Press

NAPERVILLE, Ill., April 27—State's Attorney Lee Daniels, temporarily delayed in his effort to push an inquiry into a collision of two fast Burlington passenger trains which killed 44, asserted today he was "not entirely satisfied" that W. W. Blaine, 68-year-old engineer on the Exposition Flyer, "is to bear the entire blame."

"I believe other angles might be about as much to blame as the engineer's operation," the prosecutor told newsmen after calling off his inquiry when no members of the train crews appeared.

The Burlington railroad, meanwhile, scheduled a separate investigation conference in Chicago for later in the day. Members of the two train crews were instructed to attend. Daniels said he would attend the Chicago meeting.

Rep. Smith Tells Galion Group OPA Deceives Wage Earners

"The OPA is deceiving wage earners." Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion told a group of Republican Women at a meeting in the Galion Public Library last night. "It is not holding down the cost of living—on the contrary, it powerfully operates to increase prices," he said.

OPA entirely blames rising prices on the shortage of goods, he pointed out. However, when told it is itself causing shortages by interfering with production, it points to statistics to prove there are no shortages, he charged.

"With its arbitrary rules and regulations, its red tape and gestapo methods," he said, "this political agency is harassing industry to the point where thousands of plants have been either forced to shut down altogether or greatly curtail production."

Printing Press Money

Charging that the New Deal has created over $100,000,000,000 in printing press money, Congressman Smith said, 'It is this gigantic volume of printing press money plus the shortages caused by OPA that are pressing against prices and pushing them to higher levels."

Of OPA's assertion that food and other price subsidies hold down the cost of living,' he said, "OPA is fooling wage earners and the poor. These subsidies have exactly the opposite effect."

"We might as well claim that a fire can be put out by pouring oil on it," he said, "as to claim subsidies lower living costs."

"The claim made by OPA that its operations help the poor is nothing new," he asserted. "This is not the first OPA the world has seen. Like ours, others also claimed to be the friend of the down trodden. Always the working people and the poor were injured and never benefitted."

Hits Deficit Financing

"The New Deal administration," he charged, "got us into this mess by its policies of deficit financing and the use of government printing press money to pay its bills. Because of this money, which is now daily losing its value, the working people are now more insecure economically, socially and politically than they have ever been. Your Deal chickens are at last coming home to roost."

He concluded with the statement that "There is but one answer to the problem of inflation: Stop financing deficits with government printing press money and free production from the OPA gestapo."

Frost Holds Off; Due Tonight, Says Forecast

Marionites who may have been thinking the local seasons were going backards were reminded by the weatherman today that temperatures a year ago were the same this morning. The low for both dates was 33 degrees.

Weather forecast for tonight was for frost and probably freezing. Tomorrow is to be cloudy and warmer with occasional rain.

A few snow flurries this morning reminded residents that warm weather can't be counted on as permanent at this time. No frost damage was reported locally from last night's low of 33. Local farm leaders believe the temperature must drop to about 28 degrees before there is danger of severe frost damage. Present dry weather is damaging crops more now frost, farm leaders report.

Clouds blanketed central Ohio last night and kept weather bureau's forecast of widespread frost from materializing. The weather man predicted frost for tonight and said there probably would be freezing temperatures in the eastern and northern portions of Ohio.

U. S. TO INSIST ALLIED TROOPS LEAVE AUSTRIA

Byrnes Approaches Critical Stage of Big Four Parley Opposing Russia.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, April 27—The United States approached a critical stage of the four-power foreign ministers' conference today apparently determined to override Russian objections and to insist that Austria be cleared of occupation troops and recognized as a truly independent nation.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was reported ready to demand at today's meeting the U. S. formula be adopted for Austria, and that Trieste retain its Italian sovereignty.

The ministers were expected to rule today on one or both of these questions.

The United States maintained that Italy should retain Trieste because of that city's predominant Italian population, but that port facilities should be internationalized to encourage trade for Austria, Hungary and nearby states.

This proposal has been opposed by Yugoslavia, which wants sovereignty over Trieste, and the Yugoslav stand has been supported by Russia.

A decision on Austria, coupled with a settlement on reparations to be paid by Italy, is expected to set a pattern for the peace treaties with Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland, where the Russian influence is even stronger.

The ministers, representing the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France, agreed yesterday on the machinery for studying the question of Italian reparations, but failed to reach an accord on the inclusion on the agenda of the Austrian question and on a French request to internationalize the Ruhr.

Russia maintained that Italy pay $300,000,000.

The United States was reported pledged to a policy of clearing foreign troops from eastern Europe, so that nations there could concentrate on meeting their own food, fuel and transportation problems.

Many States Set To Go on Daylight Savings Tomorrow

By The Associated Press

Daylight saving time will go into effect at 2 a. m. tomorrow in six eastern states and portions of 19 others.

Twenty-three states and the District of Columbia, however, will not observe the time change.

States which will push timepieces ahead one hour on a statewide basis are New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont and Connecticut.

Those states where communities will make their own decisions on the subject are New York, West Virginia, Illinois, Minnesota, Florida, Michigan, South Carolina, Kentucky, Missouri, New Mexico, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Ohio, Louisiana, Delaware, Oregon, Maine and Maryland.

Most of Maine will observe daylight saving time but most of Oregon won't.

SEES HELP FOR OPA FROM FARM LEADERS

(More about Farm Organization and OPA on Page 5)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 27—Senator Mitchell (D-Wash) today described as "important help" to OPA the contention of major farm organizations that the house went too far in voting to loosen price controls.

Mitchell, one of the senate's most vigorous supporters of OPA, told reporters:

"This is about the first recognition we have had at committee hearings from critics of OPA that a weak price control agency would be dangerous to the country."

Less Bread for Marion Seen as Flour Supply Is Reduced

Less bread for Marion customers was predicted today by local bakers as they prepared to take a 25 per cent cut in their flour supply, following a federal order limiting flour production to 75 per cent of the amount milled a year ago.

Most bakers expressed the belief that the future was "not bright" and some predicted that the flour rationing program would put the smaller bakery out of business altogether.

Present supplies of baked goods appeared to be about normal, their supply being about last week's net, but they declined to predict what the next few weeks might bring. The general feeling was that there would be no rationing by the loaf to the individual customer, although at least one local baker already has cut his bread supply 25 per cent to the stores. Others stated the flour cut would probably mean they would be forced to cut their supplies to the stores.

Other Cuts Forecast

One baker declared he expected the flour cut might be even more than 25 per cent, since the amount of flour bakeries would receive would depend on the wheat supply to local millers. "If local millers do not get enough wheat to mill 75 per cent of their capacity, bakers cannot be expected to get even 75 per cent of their normal flour supply," he said. He predicted the baker's supply might drop to as low as 50 per cent.

As far as plans for distribution of "returns", bread not sold during the day's business, bakers said they didn't expect any returns.

Shortage of sugar has limited the amount of sweet goods produced by local bakeries too. One bakery reported that until yesterday it had baked no sweet goods for two weeks because it was out of sugar. Other bakers said they were "getting along" by using sugar substitutes and prepared mixtures. Some said they still had enough sugar to last for a while yet.

Little Wheat in County

There is very little wheat left in storage in Marion county, according to farm officials. County AAA Chairmann Frank Montgomery reports that what little wheat farmers did have stored has either moved into market under the government subsidy program or is being retained on the farm for livestock feed.

Local milling firms report their wheat supply is very unsteady, fluctuating up and down from day to day although the general trend is downward. Officials of one local mill said today their company would have no more flour for domestic consumption until the first of May. They predicted the next few days may determine better just how the wheat shortage will affect their production. Their flour now, however, is going into government channels for overseas shipments.

Concert Ticket Drive Deadline Is Today

The deadline for securing memberships in the Marion Community Concert association will be reached at 5:30 p. m. today, with no chance of an opportunity to attend Marion's concerts next season, available after that hour. There will be no single admissions sold on the night of concert presentations, the public was reminded at association headquarters today, and it was stressed that everyone intending to attend concerts must obtain memberships before the close of the drive at 5:30. Headquarters is in the H. Schaffner Co. store, and may be reached by telephone by dialing 3232.

UN HOPES FOR RUSSIAN SHIFT

Gromyko Standing Firm in Seeking Quick Action Against Franco.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 27 — A majority of the United Nations security council membership hoped today that a weekend message with new instructions from Moscow might move Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko from his steadfast opposition to any subcommittee investigation of Franco Spain.

There was nothing to indicate Gromyko would waver from his contention that Spain already has been proved a menace to peace and that subsidiary pursuit of the question would lead only to delay, thus forestalling immediate action against Spain. The 10 other members of the council were in apparent agreement on a proposal to investigate to determine whether Spain is, as charged, a threat to world peace.

The Soviet delegate became the last holdout against the appointment of a subcommittee to compile all the available data on Spain from the intelligence services of the individual governments of the UN and any additional evidence it may turn up. Australian Delegate W. R. Hodgson twice revised his resolution proposing the subcommittee inquiry in an effort to bring the council to unanimous agreement.

The current Hodgson resolution calls for assembly of facts on Spain already in possession of UN governments. In the light of the "moral condemnation" of Franco by the UN collectively and council members individually the subcommittee should conduct further inquiries and report back "as soon as practicable."

ELEVATORS AND MILLS FACING LOSS OF GRAIN

Seizure of Part of Supplies Seen as Only Course Open To Boost Exports.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 27—The government, in a "much more drastic" step to avert starvation abroad, may move in and take part of the wheat now held by mills and elevators.

The grain obtained in this way would be used to help meet famine relief promises until greater quantities can be bought directly from farmers.

The action appears to be the only course open to the government if it is to keep its exports during the next few critical weeks from falling far short of urgent overseas needs.

A decision thus to requisition part of the wheat remaining in commercial channels may be made today by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson. Anderson was due back at his office after a visit to Minnesota and North Dakota, where he appealed personally to farmers to sell their remaining below-normal supplies to the government for shipment to famine areas.

Takes Weeks To Arrive

This farm wheat will require several weeks to reach port in any great amount, hence the possibility of quicker action.

The first open hint of the possible form any further action might take came from a state department news conference yesterday.

Discussing the food situation with reporters, Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson said he believed much more drastic steps must be taken to get wheat and flour for the destitute overseas.

Asked what might be done, he replied there is no great mystery about it.

If you want to get wheat and flour, Acheson said, what you have to do is to go and take wheat or flour. There are various ways to do that, he added, including the possibility of rationing.

Nearly all other government officials, however, have emphasized that there is not enough time to inaugurate rationing.

U. S. Has Power

The government has the power to requisition supplies. It used that power during the war—and still is using it—to obtain food for the armed services and for export.

No comment was forthcoming from the agriculture department in the absence of Anderson but his aides discounted any possibility of government seizure of farm stocks under requisitioning powers.

They expressed confidence that the government's offer of a 30 cent a bushel bonus in time will pull from the farms a large part of the wheat still remaining there. They said, however, that some marketing may be delayed a few weeks because of the press of spring planting operations.

Requisitioning of commercial supplies could well fill part of the export gap.

While far below normal, supplies in commercial channels have been estimated as enough to meet curtailed domestic needs until July 1, when the new crop will become available.

Would Be Replaced

Should the government take a part of these stocks, it undoubtedly would plan to replace them shortly, at least in part, from supplies obtained from farms, providing farm sales were adequate to meet export needs and still leave a slight margin.

However, should farm sales be inadequate, supplies available for domestic consumption would suffer and flour production for domestic use in that case would not be sufficient to maintain the 70 per cent distribution level ordered by the government last week.

Another step which the government may take to curtail the use of wheat is an order requiring commercial hatcheries to produce fewer baby chicks.

The agriculture department is known to feel that there are too many chickens on farms in relation to the short grain supply.

"English" Nations Unbeatable in Sick World, Says Churchill

By The Associated Press

ABERDEEN, SCOTLAND, April 27. — Winston Churchill declared today that underlying unities make the English-speaking world "unconquerable" in a "world rife with hatred."

"We do not know that the hatred and confusion which abound will not confront us with even harder trials than those we have so narrowly and painfully survived," he said.

Speaking at a freedom of the city celebration in his honor, Churchill declared that the "world is ill," and that science had placed in the hands of men "agencies of destruction far beyond any development of their common sense or virtue."

Churchill recalled there was a time when the hatred of Scots and English was "as bitter as any passions ever known among men."

Cites English Unity

Those days are "long gone by for us," he added. LA GUARDIA INVADES FARM BELT FOR FOOD

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Illinois, April 27 — Twenty trucks bearing 15,000 bushels of grain moved into this city today to-day yesterday as UNRRA Director Fiorello LaGuardia rode in a farm wagon and appealed to American farmers for food for the world's hungry.

LaGuardia accompanied by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson made a radio-wide radio address in which he said the "decisive role of wheat marketing must be left up to the farmer and to no one else."

"We should have the sale of wheat and not the forcible sale of wheat," LaGuardia said. "The whole problem is subject to influence but let's call it that and not wheat sales.

"What we are doing now is something more than just feeding hungry people. This plan of world planning in order to spread available supplies is a matter of great concern to the American farmer.

"The time will come when we will have surpluses instead of shortages. We want to have supplies to share surpluses in all areas and want in others."

LaGuardia and Anderson's winning trade roll to market the spring wheat production of 1946 as the farmers completed seeding of a 25-car train carrying between 40,000 and 50,000 bushels of grain.

The train, scheduled to continue today, bore signs: "More Food UNRRA Famine Relief." Before LaGuardia talked to an audience of 2,000 persons, most of them weather-faced Minnesota and North Dakota farmers who had come this town of 300, looked on.

Programs on the Air

The first Sunday after Easter brings daylight saving operation back to the networks for 22 weeks. It brings also accompanying program complications, with parts of the country on daylight and the rest on standard time.

The setup is more complicated than in pre-war days, when there was a straight network switch-over. Involved is a plan by a couple chains to meet both daylight and standard schedules.

Actually, all chains will have a basic daylight schedule. NBC and CBS are telling listeners in standard zones their programs will be an hour earlier according to local clocks, but with no change in daylight territory. They are leaving to individual stations the decision whether to record programs and hold them for a standard time relay.

The double timing is the idea of ABC and to a certain extent MBS.

To meet the general situation, this column will continue to carry standard time—one hour later than daylight.

Beginning Sunday The Star's radio programs will be adjusted to conform with the networks' change to daylight savings time. All programs will be listed at the time they are heard in Marion and other points in The Star's circulation area.

MUSSOLINI'S WATCHMEN FACE NEGLECT CHARGES

Paper Says Stolen Body Now Held on Boat.

By The Associated Press

MILAN, April 27—Milan police said today that two Milanese cemetery watchmen will be charged with neglect of duty as a result of theft Monday night of Benito Mussolini's body from its unmarked pauper's grave.

The officers said neither watchman was involved in the theft, but that both were on duty at the time the theft occurred.

The newspaper Italia Sera says in a Venice dispatch that the body of Benito Mussolini, stolen from a Milan potter's field, is "enroute by boat to Bari or Pescara" and will be brought to Rome for burial under an assumed name in the capital's principal cemetery.

The dispatch said a secret Fascist organization had planned since last September to steal the body and take it by truck to the port of Chiavgia, where it would be removed temporarily from the mainland on a fishing smack.

"CZAR" CHANDLER SENDS WORD HE'LL BE HERE FOR OPENER

'Happy' Slated To Team Up With Lausche on First Ball

By JIM DARBY

Local baseball officials are busily making arrangements for the visit Baseball Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler and Gov. Frank J. Lausche will pay Marion Tuesday. The two will help Marion launch the 1946 Ohio State baseball league that night at 8.

Judge W. Dexter Hazen has received word that Chandler will arrive in Marion by car Tuesday afternoon. Arrangements are being made to have him to Hotel Harding for rest before game time at 8 p.m.

Immediately after the game he will return to Cleveland, N. Y., where he will attend the Pony league opener Wednesday and the Canadian-American league opener at Batavia on N. Y. Thursday.

Governor Expected to Drive

No official word of the time Gov. Lausche is expected to arrive has been received here but officials believe he will probably drive up from Columbus the day before game time.

Judge Hazen said the program included a welcome to Chandler and Gov. Lausche and a brief response from each of them. Then will follow the guests of honor as the batteries the first pitch of the season will be delivered. Judge Hazen was uncertain which one of the two would be the battery. League President Frank M. Colby will be the public umpire for the opening pitch.

Officials have announced that the gates at Lincoln park will be open at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and a "first come, first served" rule applies. Only box seats are reserved.

Squad Game Sunday

Yesterday's game with the Ohio Wesleyan varsity nine was rained off because of cold weather. The Cards had been scheduled to battle the Methodists in an exhibition matinee on the college diamond.

Attempts to arrange an extra game with a local semi-pro outfit have failed so Manager Lloyd Sprang will divide the players into two teams and run off an inter-squad game Sunday at 2 p.m. at Lincoln park. The game is open to the public.

Pete Hunt, coach of Marion high's track squad, announced that Marion high will be host to the first annual Central District of Ohio Track Meet Monday at 6:30 p.m. George M. Trautman of the Detroit Tigers will speak at the banquet.

Umpires Assigned for OSL Openers

Umpire assignments for the opening games of the Ohio State League season next Tuesday were announced today by League President Frank M. Colby as follows:

Lima at Marion—Wade Monroe and Ray Westphall.

Zanesville at Newark—John McNabb and Frank Bollinger.

Richmond at Middletown—Al Mutart and Vore Alcorn.

Springfield at Dayton—Patrick Scanlon and Harry McGowan.

Scanlon is the only holdover from last year's staff. He also was in the league in 1944. McNabb was an emergency umpire in the league in 1945. Monroe and Westphall are graduates of George Barr's school, while Mutart and Alcorn are from Bill McGowan's school. Bollinger is a veteran with many years of umpiring experience while McGowan is the 18-year-old New York boy, the youngest umpire in professional ball, who was recommended by Carl Hubbell, of the Giants.

1,350 Athletes Meet in OWU Relays Today

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., April 27—Some 1,350 athletes from 82 schools competed today in the 15th annual Ohio Wesleyan high school relays, first major event of the outdoor track season.

In the Class "A" group, favorites were defending champion East Tech, winner for the last four years, Columbus West, Dayton Dunbar, Cleveland East, Cleveland John Marshall and Toledo Devilbiss.

New London, winner of last year's Class "B" title, was facing the smaller schools.

Trial heats in running races were scheduled this morning with all finals scheduled this afternoon.

Mt. Gilead Races OK; Warren Gets Snub

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 27—A running race meeting at the Trumbull county fair grounds still lacks approval by the Ohio state racing commission, it was indicated today.

W. G. Baker of Warren, O., appeared before the commission for the second time yesterday asking sanction of a June meet, but officials have not acted upon his request.

In another action, commissioners approved harness races in connection with the Morrow county fair at Mt. Gilead for Aug. 15-16-17.

CINCY BLANKS MARSHALL

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 27—The University of Cincinnati baseball team picked up all its runs in the sixth inning yesterday and defeated Marshall college in a season opener, 5 to 0. Pitcher Fibe Nickel held Marshall to three hits.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—To put it bluntly, this year's Penn relays haven't been so hot thus far.

That goes for the performances as well as the weather and if anyone is looking toward the 1948 Olympics on the basis of 1946 feats, he'd better start looking somewhere else. The only kids who really have shown anything are the sprinters, hurdlers and weight tossers so it looks as if Uncle Sam would remain on the outside looking in when the international distance races are run a couple of years from now.

* * *

No Goldbricking

One noticeable feature of the relays has been the feats of boys just out of the armed forces. Ralph Tate, the Oklahoma Aggies' hurdler, was wounded severely three times while fighting with the 83rd division. Irv Kintisch and Bernie Moyer, the NYU weight tossers both are just out of service and Tom Quinn, the two-mile winner, still is in the Navy.

* * *

An investigation of the death of welterweight Harvey (Twin) Weiss after a bout in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has shown, according to the Pennsylvania athletic commission, that nobody was responsible. After four ring deaths this year, it seems that somebody should be made responsible for making sure that boxers are in good health before they're allowed to fight. The University of Detroit football team likely will set some sort of travel record next fall when it plays Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass. Oct. 5, at San Francisco Oct. 13 and then goes home to meet Tulsa Oct. 18.

Back in 1886 the Athletics advertised in mid-summer "All ladies are cordially invited on Thursday." ...By September they were invited "every day this week." Maybe that's a hint for the 1946 Athletics.

Two Champ Pacers To Race for 64th Time

By The Associated Press

ARCADIA, Calif., April 27—One of harness racing's greatest feuds will be renewed today when King's Counsel, owned by Baker Acres, St. Charles, Ill., and Adios from the Shapiro-Warner stable, San Fernando, Calif., pace it off in their 64th meeting.

King's Counsel beat Adios last week to take a 33-30 edge in their string.

Harness officials were expecting another 20,000 crowd to close the second week of the Santa Anita grand circuit meeting.

Yesterday's top winners were Earl's Moody Guy, Pat Coan-telous' trotter from Iron River, Wis., and a California pacer, Red Streak, owned by S. A. Camp of Shafter. They won $5,000 events. It was Red Streak's third straight win.

ILLINI DEFEATS O.S.U. 8-5

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 27—With Marv Rotblatt pitching six perfect innings, the University of Illinois defeated Ohio State university's baseball team 8 to 5 yesterday in the first of a two-game series. Chuck Reese's infield single in the seventh was the first OSU hit.

HARDING TO BATTLE CALEDONIA THINNIES

Rural Stars Coming Monday; Ball Game Called Off.

Harding's track squad will be looking for its first win of the season Monday when the Prexies entertain Caledonia here. Caledonia was rained out by Pleasant in the quadrangular track meet among county league schools April 13.

Coach George Vorn said he expects a better showing Monday than in previous meets against Ray Hood of Pleasant were the both were easily defeated.

Norm Adkins in the discus throw, Cummins in the shot put and Gutermuth in the 220 yard run are showing much improvement. None has had much track experience but should get some good records with a little more practice.

All events except javelin and pole vault will be run Monday.

Harding was scheduled for a baseball game with New Bloomington Monday at Lincoln Park, but the contest has been cancelled, reportedly at the request of New Bloomington. The game had previously been delayed because of dampness at the rural school.

Last Year's Champs Falter in A.A. Race

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee and Louisville, the American Association champions of 1945 aren't making a very auspicious start in the 1946 season.

Louisville, winner of the play-off series last fall is tied for second place in the standings today as the clubs move to new pastures in the young race. The Colonels have lost three games in their nine starts thus far.

Milwaukee which finished atop the standings after a schedule of 154 games, is down in seventh place.

Milwaukee dropped a 6-0 shutout to Minneapolis yesterday as the Millers' Hal Swanson pitched one-hit ball.

Louisville had little trouble defeating Toledo 6-3.

In the day's other game, Larry Rosenthal of St. Paul smashed out a grand slam homer in the last of the eighth inning to defeat Kansas City, 11-10. The Indianapolis-Columbus game was postponed because of cold weather.

"What Next, Corporal Hargrove?" To Show at Marion Sunday and Monday.

"What Next, Corporal Hargrove?" starring Robert Walker and Jean Porter, and "Night Editor" with William Gargan, Janis Carter and Jeff Donnell will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former, which is a sequel to the first G. I. comedy, "See Here, Private Hargrove," tells of the adventures of Hargrove, when he is put in command of a group of men. The latter picture is based on the radio show of the same name and a story is told which deals with a two-timing cop and a double-crossing blond, who are caught in a crossfire of murder.

"Kid Millions" starring Eddie Cantor, Ann Sothern, George Murphy, and Ethel Merman, and "Condemned to Devils Island" with Ronald Colman and Ann Harding will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

The former is a musical comedy and tells of a Brooklyn boy who becomes sole heir to a buried treasure in Egypt. The latter story is of a man who has been sent to a menacing jungle land by society because he has stolen just once too often. It tells also how he tried to escape but was returned to the island.

"They Made Me a Killer" starring Robert Lowe and Barbara Britton, and "Springtime in Texas" with Jimmy Wakely, Dennis Moore and Lee White will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

A suspenseful murder mystery, the former is the story of an on-the-level guy who unwittingly becomes involved in robbery and murder. The latter tells of three boys who battle to clean up a crooked gang ruling a western town.

Clark Gable and Greer Garson in "Adventure" on Palace Bill

"Adventure," the highly publicized picture starring Clark Gable and Greer Garson, is now playing through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

Clark Gable plays the role of a boatswain on a Merchant Marine freighter, and he and his pal, Thomas Mitchell, are on an extended shore leave in San Francisco. Mitchell has made certain promises when his life is saved following a shipwreck and he fails to keep them. As a result, he believes he has "lost his soul." In an effort to convince him otherwise, Clark Gable obtains the aid of Greer Garson, who plays a very prim librarian.

She and her roommate, played by Joan Blondell, are persuaded to spend an evening with Gable and his crew and Greer Garson finds herself involved in many things she never dreamed of. After their quick marriage, Gable prepares to shove off on another cruise, and Greer realizes that she is married to a man who will spend very little time with her. She then plans to undo the grave mistake.

News of the Day will be shown with "Adventure."

Wednesday only, the Harding High school senior play, "You Can't Take It With You," will be presented on the stage of the theater.

"Up Goes Maisie" starring Ann Sothern and George Murphy will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

This picture tells the story of Maisie who starts out to get a secretarial job and becomes involved in the plans of her latest admirer, George Murphy. He portrays an inventor of a secret helicopter which flies at a great rate of speed and is simply constructed. Just before it is to be given a trial flight, the helicopter is stolen by a gang of rivals and it is up to Maisie to return it to the owner.

Short features to be shown with the feature picture are "Testing the Experts," a community sing, a Walt Disney cartoon and the News of the Day.

More Sugar for Those Who Go Out to Dinner

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—A 10 per cent increase in sugar allotments to hotels and restaurants for May and June was announced by the OPA today.

Household sugar rations are not affected by this action. OPA announced yesterday that Spare Stamp 49, which was to become valid May 1, would be good for the usual five pounds for four months.

In addition to hotels and restaurants, the 10 per cent increase will be granted to such other institutional users as hospitals, plant cafeterias, child feeding centers and state institutions.

"Conquest" On Screen at Ohio

James Cagney and Ann Sheridan Star in Film Here Through Thursday.

"City for Conquest" starring James Cagney and Ann Sheridan is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

This picture tells the story of five lives, and packed into all their lives is the tragedy of loneliness, the laughter of the wise-cracking people of New York, the despair of victory, the emptiness of conquest, and the glory of the dignity of a boy who loved and lost.

James Cagney plays the role of Danny Kenny, a stocky New York slum newsboy, who rises to fame and fortune by the power of his chunky fists. Edward is his brother, who is a musical genius. Ann Sheridan plays Peggy Nash, Danny's girl friend, who danced her way through the slum streets of New York to the bright lights of Times Square.

"A Walk in the Sun" starring Dana Andrews, Richard Conte, George Tyne, and Herbert Rudley with a great supporting cast will be shown for four days starting Friday.

This picture tells the story of one Yankee platoon that hit the beachhead at Salerno and "took a little walk in the sun" to achieve their objective six miles inland. However, it is not a war picture, but is concerned more with the spectacular military exploits and heroics of the individuals of the war. It tells of the common soldier, the inner story of their hearts and minds and thoughts in the presence of death and under the shadow of fear.

STREICHER CHARGES YANKS BEAT HIM UP

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 26—Julius Streicher, his angry words rushing in a high-pitched torrent, asserted yesterday American soldiers had beaten and mistreated him.

The bulky defendant with the soprano-like voice made the charge almost as soon as he took the stand in fight against charges of being a war criminal.

"During my internment, I have been treated in the way the Gestapo has been accused of acting," the anti-Semitic publisher testified. "I have been beaten and chained to the floor with an iron chain.

"I have been forced to bend and kiss the feet of Negroes. People spit in my face and open mouth. When I asked for water, I was ordered to drink from the latrine.

"In Wiesbaden, a doctor took pity on me and the Jewish director in the hospital treated me comfortably. So I may not be misunderstood, I want to say the Jewish prison doctor here has been very considerate."

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THE fanatic unreality of the scene I was watching increased with every word of Mary's mirthful appeal to her husband. For, while she had put no direct question to Noel, every inflection of every syllable was an appeal.

I would have wagered much, and I was sure every spectator in the Veritzen living room would have backed me, that Mary's laughing revelation of Georges' insistence years ago upon her ultimate acceptance of the heirloom betrothal ring of the kings of Trees, would have sent Noel into an emotional explosion that would have come near to wrecking the living room.

Showed No Resentment

But, as I saw from a covert glance at his face from beneath my lowered eyelashes, his features and eyes showed no trace of resentment or disturbance. Instead, there was amused laughter in his eyes, as well as in his voice, when he answered Mary.

"No," he said, "I don't think my worst enemy—or best friend—could say that I have any kingly dignity lying around for the chopping! But, darling," and there was tenderness in his voice now, "you have brought me so many blessings for which I am thankful, that the one you have just mentioned isn't worth the counting."

Mary's eyes were starry as he finished the gallant little speech, and the smile she flashed at him would have been a prize worth striving for in a duel. But I guessed that Dicky's incredibly clever niece had succeeded, during the last half hour, in convincing her husband, not only that he had won his long duel with Georges over her, but also, that, in reality, there never had been any duel.

But she had no chance to answer him, for it was Olina who seized the reins of conversation, and I saw with infinite relief that the former princess of Transvania had made good use of the privacy granted her by our ostentatious absorption in Mary's quips, and our careful abstention from even a cursory glance at her.

Herself Again

She was herself again, poised, alert, with every emotional nerve carefully cushioned. And Mary, even though she is the star on a successful Broadway play, could have put on no better performance than Olina did in the next few seconds.

Mary was still standing close to her, and Olina reached over and gave her an affectionate little pat on the shoulder, at the same time flashing a radiant smile at her step-brother's wife.

"If you ask me," she said, "that speech is one of the prettiest I ever heard, and distinctly calls for a rewarding kiss."

"Are you telling me?" Mary countered with an answering smile. "And the kiss—a great, big one—is in the offing. Knowing my husband, however—what do you say, darling, will you take that smack now, or shall I put a rain check on it?"

Noel's sensitive face lost its serenity for an instant, for I surmise that each of Mary's caresses is something sacred to him. Then his lips quirked into a tender smile at his wife.

"A rain check, darling, if you don't mind," he said.

"You know I don't mind," she said, and her words were packed with comprehension of his mood.

Then she turned back to Olina.

"Noel has given me so much happiness, dearest," she told the other girl, "that I'm simply bubbling over with enthusiasm for the state of marriage. That's why I'm so thrilled at the news that you and Georges have decided to take dual controls of the plane."

She caught Olina's left hand and held it up for us all to see the great glowing ruby in its quaint setting.

"You haven't told me in so many words, yet, darling," she said, "but this ring on your finger does mean a betrothal, doesn't it?"

Be Prompt With Repairs and Prevent Serious House Damage

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Some Advice on Home Maintenance.

Although few people realize it, the moment they move into a new house they are confronted with the problem of maintaining it against weather, time and changes in building trends.

The paint on a new house will not always be too good or too heavy. The caulking around window and door frames may not be too thorough. The leaders and gutters may not be too well fastened into place at the eaves. Doors and windows will not be eased against the inevitable settlement and shrinkage that takes place in every new structure. Cracks in the plaster work, seams in the wall paper, drips in the faucets, and soot in the oil-burner, are as inevitable as tomorrow's sun. The unadvised homeowner may well be in a panic, but the expectant individual will take these flaws in his stride. He is aware that as each weakness appears it must be taken care of immediately.

The large things which run into real money, such as a defective or improperly operating heating plant, usually will be adjusted by the firm which installed it. If the home owner gets no satisfaction from the local representative he will find that a complaint to the manufacturer will bring prompt and courteous attention. No reputable manufacturer wants dissatisfied users of his equipment, so when your home is equipped in the first place with good material and fixtures, you have the maintenance problem well in hand.

Monthly inspections of the exterior of the house pay large dividends. If the average homeowner would spend an hour or two every week-end, or a half-day every month, going over the outside of his home carefully, and looking for the telltale indications of trouble ahead, he would reduce his upkeep and maintenance to a minimum. The small split in a piece of wood siding if promptly filled and painted will obviate the necessity of a new board a year hence. The shingle which is starting to curl if promptly nailed down will not need replacement next year. The metal work which shows signs of rust if sanded and painted at once will not be half rusted through by next summer.

The large wealthy corporations take exceedingly good care of their building, equipment and fixtures. They are efficient and business-like. The homeowner with the greater part of his life's savings in his home will do very well to follow their example.

Low Cost of Indirect Water Heating Shown

The low cost of heating water indirectly by means of the same boiler which heats the house has been disclosed by an investigation made by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois. The tests were carried out in the I-B-R Research Home located just off the campus of the University.

An oil-fired boiler was used in the tests which extended over a period of two years. The boiler was used with an indirect water heater connected to a horizontal, insulated 30-gallon storage tank.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

DAMP WALLS

Q. We have a small, one-story house with no basement—just two-and-a-half feet between the ground and the floor. In order to keep warm, we had asbestos siding put on, had the roof insulated and put ventilators in the roof. We also put up storm windows and doors and ventilation beneath the floor. Our problem is that in very cold weather moisture gathers on the walls and around the woodwork on the floors and the storm windows freeze up and steam. How can we get rid of this moisture in the house? Two coal stoves heat the house.

A. Without a cellar it is possible that the cold air under the house chills the floors and gets into the spaces between the stud spaces of the walls, causing condensation, particularly in the lower portions. In addition to this, moisture from the ground may be aggravating the condition. If at all possible coat the underside of the floor with liquid asphalt; then place a thick moisture-proof insulation between the joists, packing it well into the ends. Ventilate the kitchen when cooking and laundering. If pots of water are kept on the stoves for humidifying purposes, discontinue the practice. A cellar under the house and a more uniform distribution of heat in all the rooms undoubtedly would help minimize the trouble.

LIMED-OAK FINISH

Q. How can I give oak wood a limed-oak finish?

A. The present finish (probably varnish) must be removed first with a varnish remover. Afterwards this should be cleaned off thoroughly with benzine, taking precautions against fire. Then paint the oak with a white or grayish compound. A paste filler mixed with turpentine to the consistency of heavy paint can be used. Brush this on liberally with the grain. In 20 minutes or so wipe it off across the grain with burlap or another coarse cloth. The result is to pack the pores with the compound. After time for drying, sandpaper lightly with fine paper. The compound remaining in the pores gives the light cast. If a heavy limed effect is desired, less of the paste filler is wiped off. Use clear varnish as a finish or shellac.

IVY ON BRICK WALL

Q.: If I were to plant ivy so that it would climb on the brick walls of my house, would it do any harm?

A.: It might make the walls damp; also the tendrils might work into cracks in the masonry.

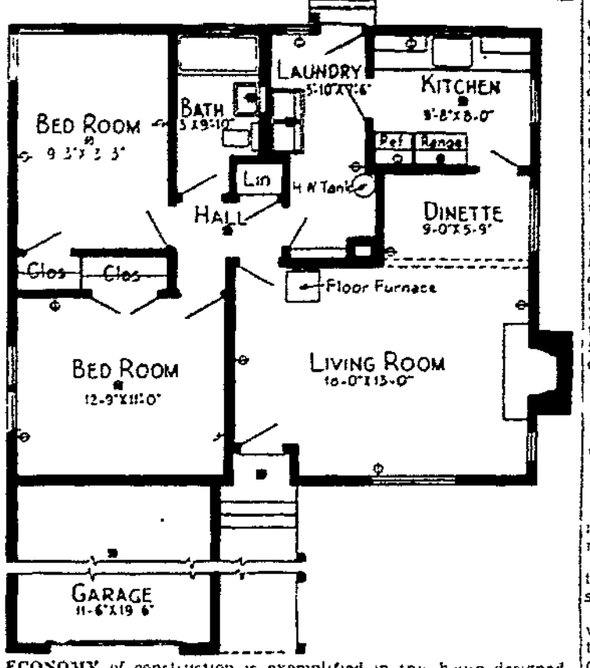
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



ECONOMY of construction is exemplified in this house designed by Paul Hayden Kirk (Railway Exchange Bldg.), Seattle, Wash., for a small family. The exterior is clapboard siding. Shingles are asphalt. The American Builder magazine (105 West Adams St., Chicago 3, Ill.) points out that overall dimensions of 32x28 make the dwelling suitable for a small lot.

Assure High Quality Plumbing Equipment

To build the largest possible number of houses in the shortest possible time is the No. 1 objective of the construction industry and the plumbing and heating industries are making every effort to aid in this objective, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Production of vitreous china plumbing fixtures has increased to the point where it is now approaching the highest production attained before the war or during the war, the Bureau says. Production of enameled cast iron plumbing fixtures is steadily increasing.

There is no sacrifice of quality in the fixtures now being made, the Bureau points out. The chromium plated brass with which plumbing fixtures are being fitted and trimmed is, in every respect, equal or superior to pre-war equipment.

BUILDING CONTRACTS HIT 17-YEAR HIGH

Construction contracts were awarded for 74,677 projects to cost $1,442,493,000 in the thirty-seven states east of the Rocky mountains in the first quarter of 1946, it was reported today by F. W. Dodge Corporation, fact-finding organization for the construction industry. This was the highest dollar volume shown for the first quarter of a year since 1928, and was 134 per cent greater than in the first quarter of 1945, when the dollar volume totaled $616,780,000.

The gains in home building were most pronounced. Residential contracts involving new buildings and alteration projects totaled $467,035,000 in the first quarter compared with $85,779,000 in the corresponding quarter of last year. The Dodge compilations showed that 67,115 dwelling units were called for in the first quarter contracts compared to 14,548 in the first quarter of last year.

Nonresidential construction volume comprising 16,764 projects reached $716,910,000 in the first quarter against $388,612,000 in the corresponding quarter of 1945. Public works and utilities contracts totaled $258,548,000 against $162,389,000 in the first quarter of last year.

HOUSE CONSTRUCTION VITAL FOR HEATING

One of the national trade papers in the heating and fuel industry recently asked the question "Where are the greatest opportunities for improving heating results?"

Most of the heating experts who answered this question, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, pointed out that the greatest opportunities for the improvement of heating results lie not in changes in heating equipment but in structural improvements in the house or building to be heated.

One of the experts said "Is it right that we should keep thinking of improving the heating system? Is that what a homeowner wants? Or is it comfort that he wants without caring too much how it is accomplished?"

The heating expert points out that there has not been enough cooperation between the building contractor and the heating contractor—too little realization that neither the building nor the heating system are of value without the other.

"Too many times" says the expert, "the heating system has been blamed for drafts resulting from loose fitting windows—the discomfort from which could never be overcome by additional heat.

"Conversely, all improvements in the building construction cannot overcome the discomfort of improperly located registers.

"Insulation, thermostatic controls, automatic firing, storm windows and weather stripping each and all save the owner money and provide greater comfort."

Ventilating Fans Prove Usefulness

Ventilating fans in the home, particularly in the kitchen, bathroom and basement recreation room, have over and over again proved their usefulness in many ways. They provide an excellent form of controlled ventilation (this means that unpleasant drafts are eliminated) and remove objectionable odors and excess humidity, says Practical Builder, Chicago.

Ventilating fans should be installed as close to the source of heat or odor as possible. For example, in the kitchen the most practical place for the fan would be close to the range. In the bath it would be most useful close to the tub. In the basement it should be located as far as possible from openings where air is drawn in such as windows and doors so that the fan will pull the air into the room and circulate it.

Fans can be mounted in the doors and weather stripping each and all save the owner money and provide greater comfort."

Sink Important in Kitchen Pl

The creaking pump and battered pan of 50 years ago are transformed into the gleaming beauty and magic efficiency of the sink of today, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

The sink, the Bureau points out, is the most important single piece of equipment in the kitchen. Since both food preparation and cleaning-away processes center on the use of the sink, more than half of the housewife's time in the kitchen is spent at the sink.

Modern manufacturing "kitchen" has evolved so many excellent types of sinks, that the housewife is able to select the type and model best suited to her kitchen and her individual requirements.

Crop pests and plant diseases in the United States cause losses estimated to total more than $3,000,000 a year.

CORN, WHEAT BONUS TO BE EXPLAINED

Marion Co. Group To Attend Marysville Meeting.

Marion county AAA officials will attend a district AAA meeting in Marysville Tuesday to discuss the government's proposal for a corn bonus on wheat and corn. The government's bonus program is being established to speed the flow of grain to starving nations of Europe and Asia.

Some elevator operators also have been invited to next Tuesday's meeting, according to Frank Montgomery, county AAA chairman. The meeting, which will start at 10 a. m., will be held in the AAA office.

Following the district meeting, Chairman Montgomery said he would invite all elevator men of Marion county to a meeting in his office where results of the district meeting will be discussed.

Chairman Montgomery said he was receiving many inquiries from farmers regarding the bonus program and he xepects many questions concerning it to be cleared up at the Marysville session.

By offering a government bonus on wheat delivered up to May 25, national farm leaders hope to obtain about 160,000,000 bushels of wheat from farm storage.

Through a similar bonus on corn the government hopes to raise 50,000,000 bushels. Farmers in Marion county have very little wheat in storage, farm authorities report.

4-H CLUB REORGANIZATION COMPLETED IN COUNTY

County Advisor Reports 236 Young People Enrolled.

Completion of a boys' 4-H club reorganization program, going on in Marion county since February, was announced today by Lloyd Lutz, county 4-H club advisor.

A total of 236 young people, including 18 girls, are now enrolled in the 15 agriculture clubs in Marion county. Projects carried by club members include dairy cattle, beef cattle, hogs, poultry, lambs, rabbits, gardens or field crops.

Mr. Lutz and County Agricultural Agent Arthur H. Smith now have started to reorganize the girls' clubs of the county. Projects for girls include cooking, sewing or other domestic skills.

The 15 boys' clubs include those at Martel, Meeker, Grand Prairie, Big Island, Prospect, Caledonia, Pleasant, Claridon, Morral, Green Camp, Bowling Green, Waldo, New Bloomington, Kirkpatrick and Richland.

ONLY 3 PLAYGROUNDS TO BE IN OPERATION

Funds Lacking for Opening of Seven as Last Year.

Only three playgrounds can be operated in Marion this summer, it was decided at a meeting of the Marion Recreation commission Thursday night. Seven were in use last year.

For the last four years the work of the commission was financed by the Marion Community Foundation. However, the Foundation is unable to continue and the city treasury has no funds for recreation.

The Kiwanis club has agreed to finance the commission to the extent of $1,000, which will allow operation of two playgrounds. The commission has $535 of its own. The playgrounds at the Glenwood and Silver street school buildings will be operated and one other to be designated later.

The commission has contacted the Marion park board and the amateur day committee in an appeal for more funds and invites other civic clubs to sponsor playgrounds.

Playground directors have not yet been selected. The commission is accepting applications now and will announce appointments within the next two weeks.

Commission members are Robert T. Mason, Frank C. Robinson, Morris Elperin, John J. Zuck and J. D. Torrance.

Mackenzie Looks Behind Russian View on Austria

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Russian opposition to the early framing of a treaty which would restore Austrian independence is further evidence of Moscow's determination to carry out the extension of its sphere of influence in Europe according to plan.

The objection was voiced by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Paris as the parley was cautiously getting under way. He said the proposal for an Austrian pact now was an unforeseen development which required thorough study. We must look deeper than that, however, for the real reason — and we shall be smart if we do look, because a great issue is involved.

DewittMackenzie

All other specious explanations notwithstanding, the real point is that Austria falls within Moscow's projected sphere of the influence. In fact this little country is the last of the central European territory which Russia has indicated she intends to control in order to round out her project. Everything else has been snugly brought within the security lines that runs from the great German port of Stettin on the north to the Adriatic on the south.

Clark's Viewpoint

When I was in Austria six weeks ago I had a long talk with General Mark Clark, American commander, and I came away with the definite impression that he would like to see all the Allied occupation forces withdrawn by next fall and the administration turned over to the Austrian government. My observation elsewhere, however, was that this wouldn't suit the Russians, as they are interested in security and appear bent on a more protracted occupation.

The Muscovites naturally would be happy to see the other Allies—America, Britain and France—pull their troops out of Austria. That would be pie for Russia, because she then could advance her sphere of influence to the western frontier without hindrance. For precisely that reason there can be no withdrawal of troops unless all four Allies move out at the same time.

Continued occupation of little Austria is placing a terrific financial strain on her, and if it is long continued she will be bled white. Dr. Karl Renner, Austrian president, told me he hoped there would be agreement between the western Allies and his country and that in the agreement Austria wouldn't be forgotten. He said:

"As soon as our international status is fixed we want to be a member of UN and take up friendly relations with all nations."

Austria of course hasn't been regarded by the Allies in the same light as Germany. Austria was dragged into the war against the United Nations by the hair of the head. She was a vassal of Hitler, having been conquered by Nazi arms. She had no choice but to take orders from the fuehrer.

Employers To Fight Steel Control Plan

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 27—Employer delegates marshalled forces today to oppose an International Labor Office proposal that distribution of raw material in the iron and steel industry be continued by a tripartite organization.

Sir Lewis Jones, representing Great Britain employers and a Conservative member of parliament for 14 years until his defeat in the Labor victory last year, was one of the opposition leaders scheduled to appear before the ILO meeting.

The proposal was offered yesterday by the workers' group at a full employment subcommittee session of ILO's iron and steel committee conference. It recommended that raw material control be placed in the hands of an international group representing employers, employes and national governments.

Another resolution asked for a study of the effects of mechanical innovations upon employment. It proposed a program for training displaced workers to take other jobs.

3,356 PUPILS GIVEN X-RAY TESTS HERE

Pupils in Upper Six Grades Are Examined.

More than 3,300 students in the upper six grades of city and county schools were given tuberculosis X-ray tests during this week's four-day mass X-ray program.

The Marion County Anti-tuberculosis league reported today the total number of students examined was 3,356. The schedule closed yesterday with X-rays being given to more than 400 students of St. Mary, Central, LaRue, Montgomery and New Bloomington schools. About a dozen persons were reported to have been given X-rays at the public session last night at LaRue.

The X-ray films now will be sent back to the National X-ray Corp. of Orange, N. J., owner of the mobile unit, for developing and then returned to Marion county. Dr. A. E. Morrison will read the films to determine which show tuberculosis symptoms. It is expected to be three or four weeks before all the films have been examined. Positive cases will be referred to local family physicians.

Plans are now being made to bring the mobile X-ray unit back to Marion in July for a check of employes in local industries. The Huber Manufacturing Co. and Universal Cooler already have made tentative arrangements for X-ray tests to be given to their employes. Other local industries also may be included in the industrial check-up, league officials said.

The X-ray program was under the sponsorship of the Anti-tuberculosis league, with the cooperation of the boards of health and education. The examinations were held at school examination centers established at the start of the program.

UNIVERSALISTS SEE OPPRESSION IN U. S.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 27—Charges that the United States is "preaching freedom to the world while oppressing minorities at home" were considered today by 400 delegates to the biennial assembly of the Unviersalist Church of America.

Rev. Robert H. Barber, pastor of the First Universalist Society of Lawrence, Mass., told delegates last night that a liberal church must battle bigotry, anti-Semitism and oppression of minorities in every country in order to stimulate "international understanding and social justice."

Dr. Robert Cummins of Arlington, Mass., general superintendent of the Universalist Church of America, asserted the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America was a "creedal body" and "one of the world's mentally regimented voices."

Dr. Cummings said the Federal Council "consistently turned down" applications by the Universalist church for membership five years ago, adding that the council's "own constitution and by-laws specifically forbid the application of any creedal test."

The Universalist church general superintendent declared, "we need have no regrets, except that a body of men and women calling itself 'Christian' should in these days of crying need determine upon such action. The test was of the council's, not of us. The moral logic of history will write the final chapter of this story."

What is more precious than gold?

Here are some hints for you:

Without it—

- The human race would become extinct in 10 days.
- Animals, vegetables, trees, flowers would die.
- It is delivered to your home at comparatively little cost and in pure form.

Clark Gable and Greer Garson in "Adventure" on Palace Bill

"Adventure," the highly publicized picture starring Clark Gable and Greer Garson, is now playing through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

Clark Gable plays the role of a boatswain on a Merchant Marine freighter, and he and his pal, Thomas Mitchell, are on an extended shore leave in San Francisco. Mitchell has made certain promises when his life is saved following a shipwreck and he fails to keep them. As a result, he believes he has "lost his soul." In an effort to convince him otherwise, Clark Gable obtains the aid of Greer Garson, who plays a very prim librarian.

She and her roommate, played by Joan Blondell, are persuaded to spend an evening with Gable and his crew and Greer Garson finds herself involved in many things she never dreamed of. After their quick marriage, Gable prepares to shove off on another cruise, and Greer realizes that she is married to a man who will spend very little time with her. She then plans to undo the grave mistake.

News of the Day will be shown with "Adventure."

Wednesday only, the Harding High school senior play, "You Can't Take It With You," will be presented on the stage of the theater.

"Up Goes Maisie" starring Ann Sothern and George Murphy will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

This picture tells the story of Maisie who starts out to get a secretarial job and becomes involved in the plans of her latest admirer, George Murphy. He portrays an inventor of a secret helicopter which flies at a great rate of speed and is simply constructed. Just before it is to be given a trial flight, the helicopter is stolen by a gang of rivals and it is up to Maisie to return it to the owner.

Short features to be shown with the feature picture are "Testing the Experts," a community sing, a Walt Disney cartoon and the News of the Day.

"Conquest" On Screen at Ohio

James Cagney and Ann Sheridan Star in Film Here Through Thursday.

"City for Conquest" starring James Cagney and Ann Sheridan is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

This picture tells the story of five lives, and packed into all their lives is the tragedy of loneliness, the laughter of the wise-cracking people of New York, the despair of victory, the emptiness of conquest, and the glory of the dignity of a boy who loved and lost.

James Cagney plays the role of Danny Kenny, a stocky New York slum newsboy, who rises to fame and fortune by the power of his chunky fists. Edward is his brother, who is a musical genius. Ann Sheridan plays Peggy Nash, Danny's girl friend, who danced her way through the slum streets of New York to the bright lights of Times Square.

"A Walk in the Sun" starring Dana Andrews, Richard Conte, George Tyne, and Herbert Rudley with a great supporting cast will be shown for four days starting Friday.

This picture tells the story of one Yankee platoon that hit the beachhead at Salerno and "took a little walk to the sun" to achieve their objective six miles inland. However, it is not a war picture, but is concerned more with the spectacular military exploits and heroics of the individuals of the war. It tells of the common soldier, the inner story of their hearts and minds and thoughts in the presence of death and under the shadow of fear.

STREICHER CHARGES YANKS BEAT HIM UP

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 26—Julius Streicher, his angry words rushing in a high-pitched torrent, asserted yesterday American soldiers had beaten and mistreated him.

The bulky defendant with the soprano-like voice made the charge almost as soon as he took the stand in fight against charges of being a war criminal.

"During my internment, I have been treated in the way the Gestapo has been accused of acting," the anti-Semitic publisher testified. "I have been beaten and chained to the floor with an iron chain.

"I have been forced to bend and kiss the feet of Negroes. People spit in my face and open mouth. When I asked for water, I was ordered to drink from the latrine.

"In Wiesbaden, a doctor took pity on me and the Jewish director in the hospital treated me comfortably. So I may not be misunderstood, I want to say the Jewish prison doctor here has been very considerate."

Fine Arts Day Display To Be of Interest To Men

MEN will find much of interest in the hobby corner which has been set aside for the display of their handiwork and collections at the annual community fine arts day to be sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, May 7, at the Federation Home.

A new feature of the festival this year, it is expected that there will be a wide variety of exhibits and interesting articles owned and created by men and boys of Marion and the community.

By way of suggestion exhibits may include stamps, coins, guns, model airplanes and ship products, photography, woodworking, carving, metal turning, etc. Mrs. G. B. Hewetson, chairman, explains, that since space is somewhat limited, only one or two coins or stamps, one album of a collection be exhibited, to be accompanied by pertinent information, such as the size of the collection from which the object is taken. The cards, aside from bearing the owner's name, should also give such information as to the materials or techniques used.

"C. O." CALLS FOR AID FOR FORMER ENEMIES

WASHINGTON, April 27 — A young conscientious objector who underwent a six-months experiment in starvation yesterday urged the removal of a ban which prevents American relief organizations from shipping food and clothing to former enemy countries.

Charles Smith of Merchantville, N. J., one of the 36 young men who lived at the University of Minnesota on 1,650 calories a day —about half the normal U. S. diet —told a senate judiciary subcommittee:

"We want the people of Europe and Asia to resume their normal modes of life, to be able to do a day's work and to think like a man, not a beast."

While Smith appeared to be fully recovered from the test, he assured the senators a ration of 1,650 calories a day saps an individual's physical strength and has an even greater psychological impact. (UNRRA has estimated the standard diet in Europe ranges from 800 to 1,500 calories daily.)

Some of the human guinea pigs, Smith said, lost one-fourth of their weight. The ability to do physical work, he said, was decreased at least three-fourths and coordination was impaired markedly.

The psychological effects were the worst," Smith said. "Each individual gradually tended to withdraw into himself, shun social companionship, and even avoid being in the presence of normal, healthy persons who didn't know what he felt like.

"The main interest in life became the next meal."

He recommended rehabilitating the people of former enemy countries by stepping up their diets at least 1,500 calories a day above what he called the starvation level of 1,500 calories.

The committee is considering an amendment to the trading with the enemy act which would permith relief organizations in this country to send food and clothing parcels to the defeated nations.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS THEME OF BANQUET

Richwood Junior Class Entertains Seniors.

The Hawaiian Islands was the theme of the annual dinner given the senior class of Richwood school by the junior class at Hotel Harding Thursday night.

Carried out by the juniors under the direction of Miss Pauline Prichard of the school faculty and junior class advisor, the theme was emphasized by large relief maps of each of the Hawaiian Islands being used as centerpieces of the tables. The maps, made of flour and salt with a wood base, were painted green and followed the general terrain of the islands. They were decorated with miniature palm trees, grass shacks, natives and volcanos.

The juniors accorded the seniors an official Hawaiian welcome when Tucker Smith of the junior class presented a lei, the traditional Hawaiian necklace of flowers, to Emma Shields of the senior class.

Caricatures of each of the seniors and some of the faculty, about 40 in all drawn by Shirley Livingston of the junior class, were hung in the mezzanine of the Hotel Harding.

"Explorations" was the title of a talk given by H. R. Fisher superintendent of the Richwood school. John Wiley, president of the junior class made a speech of welcome, which was answered by William McAlister of the senior class. Three toasts were given by seniors. Joy Haines spoke on "Products of the Islands;" John Cheney, senior class president, toasted surf riding, the symbolic sport chosen by the class, and Lena Caiesa spoke on "Sunshine and Showers" in which she reviewed the ups and downs of the senior class. The senior class history was given by Martha Keigley and the class prophecy was given by Jo Ann Kyle and Robert Davis. The class will was read by Nick Wall.

Music was furnished by a vocal sextet composed of Jo Ann Hoffman, Marina Keigley, Jo Ann Kyle, Joy Haines, Mary Lou Harger, and Donna Cheney.

After the banquet dramatics and musical entertainment was furnished by three women students from Ohio State university.

It was announced at the banquet that Robert Davis of the senior class has won a scholarship to the Agricultural College of Ohio State university. He took an examination for it at Marysville March 30.

FARM LEADERS HIT OPA BILL

Grange and Bureau Heads Say House Too Drastic on Price Agency.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 27—Two farm organization leaders, President Edward A. O'Neal of the Farm Bureau Federation and Albert Goss, master of the National Grange, said yesterday the house was "drastic" in trimming OPA's price control powers.

At the same time both urged enactment of price ceilings for the purpose of increasing production. The two appeared before a senate banking committee considering the bill to extend OPA's life beyond June 30. O'Neal said the house "goes too far."

Specifically:

"There are a good many provisions in the house bill that are so drastic they would put OPA out of business, and that's not the purpose.

"There is certainly a more reasonable middle ground approach that can be found, which will be in the best interests of all the citizens of the nation," O'Neal said.

Makes Recommendations

He made these recommendations to the committee, which is considering legislation to extend price controls a year beyond June 30:

1. "The new price control legislation should contain provisions for decontrolling prices.

2. "Price ceilings should be maintained on items in short supply and price ceilings must be adjusted in order to bring forth needed production.

3. "Consumer subsidies must be eliminated in the price control program.

On this point, O'Neal said the farmers were demanding that the "federal treasury get out of the grocery business." He calculated that if subsidies were removed "personal income taxes could be reduced 17 per cent" as a result of savings to the government.

4. "We must take steps to correct the basic causes of inflation through federal tax, budgetary, and credit policies so that in the near future detailed controls will not be necessary."

From Goss the committee received a statement saying:

"There must be a general recognition that inflation can be controlled by production and that (price) ceilings can not be held below costs and still obtain production."

Other Grange Points

Goss also asked:

1. That ceilings be abandoned when supply equals or exceeds demand, assuming prospects are for continued ample supply.

2. That rationing orders be invoked in the event of short supplies.

3. That the subsidy payments which the government grants processors to hold down retail food prices be abandoned progressively by the end of the year, with adjustment in price ceilings accordingly.

4. That no ceilings be fixed on farm products without the approval of the secretary of agriculture.

Three CIO witnesses urged continuance and strengthening of price controls.

John Proedehl, Ford plant worker at Chester, Pa., said a $10 bill doesn't buy the groceries it did a year ago." If prices go higher, he asserted, organized labor will have to demand better pay and there will be "no end in sight."

Lloyd Achenbach, packing house worker from Cedar Rapids, Ia., said he had to "dig into my mustering out pay" to make ends meet.

Mrs. Louise Grob of Red Bank, N. J., bride of a veteran, said couples like them would have to wait years "to have a family and home" if prices soar.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Angina Pectoris

Angina pectoris, a serious disease affecting the heart, is difficult to treat, but if the patient grants his physician complete cooperation much can be done to avert its worst effects.

As a matter of fact, the real trouble lies not with the heart itself but with the arteries which supply it with blood and hence with vital oxygen and necessary food. In angina pectoris, these vessels, known as the coronary arteries, are subject to sudden spasm, which momentarily cuts off oxygen from the heart and causes great pain.

This pain, which may be agonizingly severe, centers usually under the breastbone, shooting upward into the neck and downward along the left arm.

A diagnosis of angina pectoris usually can be made by the symptoms which the patient has. An electrocardiagram or electrical tracing of the heart beat is helpful.

Many forms of treatment have been employed for this condition, but cures are difficult to obtain.

However, it has been reported that the giving of testosterone propionate reduces the frequency and the severity of the attacks, makes it possible for the patient to exercise to a greater extent, and produces a feeling of well-being. In some instances, it would appear that there is a a gradual recurrence of symptoms when the treatment is stopped, and in some cases no improvement whatsoever occurs.

In order to tell more definitely just what effects the testosterone may have, a plan of treatment was started by Dr. Samuel Waldman of Brooklyn, in which the electrocardiogram or electrical tracing of the heart beat, was used as a measure of improvement.

In carrying out this plan, the electrocardiogram was made in the usual way. Then each patient exercised by walking up two nine-inch steps, walking down the same number of steps and repeating.

After this exercise, an electrocardiogram was again taken. It was found that in patients with angina pectoris the exercise caused changes in the electrocardiogram.

For the first two months the testosterone was not employed. The patients were given sedative or quieting drugs, or nitroglycerine, which dilates or relaxes the blood vessels.

Following this period each patient was given an injection into a muscle of testosterone propionate twice a week for a period of eight weeks. In addition, nitroglycerine was used whenever necessary to relieve attacks. At the end of this period of treatment the electrocardiograms were again made.

This plan was followed in studying 10 white men ranging in age from 43 to 58 years. Of the 10, seven showed definite improvement following the treatment. Of the three who did not, two showed evidences in the electrocardiogram that continued damage to the coronary arteries was taking place.

Hence, Dr. Waldman concludes that in those instances of angina pectoris in which continued damage to the coronary arteries is occurring the testosterone treatment may not be expected to give much help. When an acute attack occurs, the testosterone is not of value. For these acute attacks nitroglycerine is usually employed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

T. R. W.: My hands and my whole body quiver. Is there something that can be done to cure this?

Answer: It is not clear as to what is causing your trouble. It may be due to some nervous disturbance or some actual disease of the nerves. It is advisable that you have a careful study made by a neurologist if possible.

I. J.: What is diathermy? Will it give results?

Answer: Diathermy is a form of electrical treatment for producing heat deep in the tissues. It is helpful in clearing up certain types of inflammation.

Ashland Man Given Suspended Sentence

Fred Spring of Ashland was given a suspended sentence of six months in the Columbus workhouse Friday in municipal court when he pleaded guilty to charges of non-support. The charges were filed against him after a complaint by his former wife, Mrs. June Sellon, that he was not living up to an agreement, made at the time of their divorce in 1945, to pay her $80 a month for the support of their two children. Spring's sentence was suspended on condition that he make up what he had failed to pay and live up to the agreement in the future. Spring was brought here from Ashland, where he is employed, by a Marion county deputy sheriff.

JUDGE BLASTS OHIO CIGARET SALES ACT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 27—The constitutionality of a five-year-old Ohio law ruling that cigarets may not be sold "below cost" was challenged today in a decision filed by Common Pleas Judge Charles J. McNamee.

Judge McNamee ruled yesterday the state unfair cigaret sales act violated the 14th amendment of the national constitution, which guarantees that states may not abridge the privileges of citizens of the United States, nor deprive any person of property without due process of law.

The jurist ruled that the Ohio law constituted discrimination without due process of law against Philip F. Price, owner of the Cigaret Service Co. and defendant in a suit filed by Walter G. Serrer, president of H. H. Serrer & Son. The plaintiff asked that Price be restrained from selling cigarets to other dealers at $1.42, allegedly "less than cost of wholesale."

Price, a "cash-and-carry" dealer, should not lose his right to sell at lower prices, Judge McNamee ruled, unless his actions were damaging to public welfare. Some 24 other states have similar laws prohibiting sales of commodities at less than cost prices.

WHY NOT

Are you boosting for your city?
Are you loyal to your town?
Or are you always stalling,
And just a-standing 'round?

Don't you know if you help others
That others will help you?
And you feel a whole lot better
If you find some good to do?

Do you ask yourself the question,
Can I do some good today?
Can I help my own town grow better
By some kindly word I say?

Can I join with my neighbors
For the uplift of this place
And pull my little pound to help
Keep my home town in the race?

You will find if you take notice
That what I say is true,
There never was a city
That just settled down and grew.

It takes live folks to build it,
Folks with faith and courage, too,
With lots of pep and ginger,
Just such folks as me and you.

Peace with Ourselves

A SEASONED philosopher and experienced statesman and soldier, Jan Christian Smuts, gave an interview in Cairo, Egypt the other day in which he said there will be no more wars, that relations among the United States, Great Britain and Russia will be good, and that what is going on now is only a "matter of a quarrel within a family."

This would not be worth repeating, except for two reasons. One is the validity of any opinion of Field Marshal Smuts, one of the wisest of all contemporary figures. The other is the probability that the weight of despair which has been pressing heavily on the morale of Allied populations since the end of the war is about to be lightened.

It seems likely that the disheartening process of making peace with ourselves has run most of its course. The tidal wave of postwar disillusionment has done the bulk of its damage and is receding from the wreckage it made of hopes raised too high. It is the same old world, with the same old problems and the same old shortcomings. But there is one great difference.

The prewar surmise that World War II would be accompanied by extermination beyond all previous practices is the postwar fact. Planes and atomic explosions have dramatized the futility of wars. That must be what Field Marshal Smuts means when he sees no more wars and "good" relations among the winners of the last one. There will be quarrels. There will be, perhaps, no peace, only a kind of forbearance. But there will not be war. At least one authoritative voice has denied the contention which has been at the bottom of so much cynicism and bitterness: that another great war is inevitable sooner rather than later and there is, therefore, no reason to prepare for anything else.

Branch Offices for Survival

ONE OF THE white rabbits Secretary of State Byrnes is expected to pull out of his hat in the preliminary peace conference of foreign ministers in Paris is a kind of European branch office of the United Nations to handle the continent's economic problems. Or perhaps this should be called a white dove.

Every move to centralize the organization of the United Nations has grated on the misgivings of persons who see no merit in centralization. In particular, the move to get the seat of the United Nations away from Europe was questionable judgment, because all its problems inevitably are of European origin.

There also was danger that man's most promising attempt to do something about the systematic annihilation that has been speeded up immeasurably with atomic explosions would fizzle out in another marble monument to futility, like the League of Nations ruin at Geneva. There still is that danger. Mr. Byrnes is only making a proposal when he mentions a European branch office for survival. The real thing would entail branch offices throughout the world—points of contact where a new generation of diplomats could keep in touch with the people they serve—listening posts where government would learn to serve human beings interested in survival, instead of politicians interested in more power for politicians.

International Debating Society

THE concern voiced by Wendell Willkie's widow about American indifference to the United Nations is justified, but the indifference is excusable. It is inevitable and of concern to more Americans than the wife of the internationalist who wrote "One World."

Everything that has happened in the UN so far has contributed to the impression it is turning into an international debating society composed of debators acting on orders from remote capitals. It appears that Mr. Gromyko speaks for the Kremlin, Mr. Cadogan for Downing Street, Mr. Byrnes for Washington and Mr. Stettinius for Mr. Byrnes. It further appears that the smaller nations speak with more authority than can be mustered by their friendship with larger nations and that the security council is an arena in which Russia is fighting for its nationalism and ideology against the nationalisms and ideologies of the United States and Great Britain.

These impressions may be wrong. Millions of persons who can look forward to nothing but sudden death if cooperative security fails are praying that something may happen soon to justify the faith they want to feel in the UN. But these are the impressions, nevertheless, that explain why Americans of Mrs. Willkie's acquaintance and of everyone's acquaintance are becoming indifferent to what goes on in the gymnasium on the campus of Hunter college. It is their impression that nothing is going on in the gymnasium but talk; that all the important business is going on elsewhere, in secret; and that debate in the Bronx has nothing to do with prevention of future wars.

WHAT'S THE USE?

The United States may be financially embarrassed—but, Marie Engleman asserts in the Hill City Times you can find very few who blush over the situation.—Kansas City Times.

The House OPA Amendments

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Wails of Neither Side Appear To Be Justified.

THE House of Representatives set off a big furor by amending the OPA. One side hailed the action as the dawn of a new day. The other predicted black ruin. A calm appraisal of the revised setup justifies neither claim.

The most talked of amendment is that which says, "No maximum price shall be established or maintained without allowing a reasonable profit." A former official of the OPA, who worked with Leon Henderson, points out that the price control act itself provided that the administrator should establish fair and equitable prices which, by any interpretation, should mean fair profits. The major question in the interpretation of this provision is whether this fair profit shall be given to the high-cost producers.

Before the publication of the over-all price freezing, in the spring of 1942, Mr. Henderson and his staff discussed for a long time the question whether there should be followed an old custom of fixing only about 200 to 300 maximum prices and of prescribing for all other merchandise a "fair price" which would allow the seller a cost-plus per unit not higher than prewar times. This plan was generally used in Europe in the first World War and it worked well in Scandinavia in the recent war. It is undoubtedly preferable where cost elements are widely different, as in such transition as the present. It was not adopted.

Present Method

At the present time, "new" commodities get a price entirely different from that of "old" commodities, even if the goods in question are virtually the same. The method of price fixing on this principle is cumbersome, and sellers are greatly dissatisfied with it. On the other hand, the records show that under the current method of control by multitudes of ceilings, profits in some industries have become five to ten times those of prewar days. In big stores and big plants, price ceilings are adhered to because employes have no interest in higher prices, and the institutions themselves cannot afford trouble and publicity through any violations. It is probable that the new house formula will bring lower, rather than higher prices.

So the disaster predicted by Messrs. Bowles and Porter is not likely to take place. The OPA might well try to operate under the simpler formula, described above, which was considered in 1942 and rejected. That formula would be likely to work much better than the plan now in force. At present, sellers have to fix prices according to the competitor "closest to him" or the commodity comparable with the new commodity. That means that he can choose anything which seems to be "comparable" and which is to his advantage.

Easier Procedure

The procedure of making a fair price with a fair profit is much easier than is allowed by present methods of the OPA. In some cases, the fixing of prices under current formulas has taken as much as four months. Such delay is intolerable to business and very unfair to the consumer.

The decision of the house to abolish "rollback" subsidies is also sound. Subsidies on meat are paid, but we do not get much of the available meat. And for what he does get, the consumer pays more above the maximum price than the amount of the subsidy. From the slaughter house to the dining table, the subsidy has long since lost its value completely.

If the OPA is to expire next spring, the subsidies must lapse then at the latest. They should not be taken off all at once. They should be removed piecemeal, but not too slowly. The situation will improve in the process.

The OPA has been over-stressing the importance of controls. And it is now wholly misrepresenting the effect of the house amendments. They are several steps in the right direction.

Something Else To Worry About

Drug manufacturers report the sale of aspirin has reached an all-time high.

Presumably this report is based on first quarter sales and thus reflects the seasonal upsurge which always comes around March 15.

Asphin has always been a good seller. But it is only in the past few years that aspirin and coffee have replaced ham and eggs as the favorite American breakfast.

It is not surprising, come to think of it, that there should be more aspirin sold now than a couple of years ago—when only Republicans were taking them.

The U. S. is a natural market for aspirin. We have more headaches to the square mile than any other nation in the world.

We've gotten so used to worrying that when we don't have anything else to worry about, we worry about that.

That's the only way I can explain it. Never before, at any rate, have the stock and aspirin markets boomed together.

Real Domestic Problem

Getting to Where Only Rich Can Afford Household Help.

By JACK STINNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—The household help in this country is passing out of the picture.

According to the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, more than 400,000 of the approximately two million pre-war household workers went into war work. More than 90 per cent of these former domestic employes intend to keep on working, but close to 60 per cent say they never will go back to the kitchen.

"Undoubtedly," says the Women's Bureau, "the high earnings offered by the manufacturing plants are a deciding factor in the desire of women to follow that type of work in peacetime.

"During the war, average weekly take-home earnings for former domestic employes working as operatives in manufacturing were $36, in laundries, $23, and in hotels, $19.

"Before the war domestic employes were the lowest paid of all women workers in the United States. The median year's wages in 1939 for more than a million domestic workers who were employed a full 12 monhts was $316."

Substantial Increase

The census bureau reports that a third of these women earned less than $200 a year, two-thirds less than $400. Since the war, according to the U. S. Employment Service records, wage rates for domestic help average $1,040 to $1,300 a year.

"There is no factual data," says the Labor Department, "to prove that hours of household employes have been shortened since 1939. There has, however, been some improvement in this situation, but for the most part the work-week of the full-time domestic employe still exceeds the wartime factory week of 48 hours. Since the end of the war, most factory workers do a 40 to 44-hour weekly stint."

"Minimum wage laws in eight states (California, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin) do not exclude domestic workers from coverage, but Wisconsin is the only one which has a minimum wage rate for domestic employes," reports the Department of Labor. The rate there, set in 1932, is $6 with meals, $4.50 a week with meals and room, on a basis of 50 hours a week. But try to get a maid or cook at that pay.

More Doing Own Work

There still are close to a million and a half domestic workers, but that's a small number compared to the 20 million or so housewives who are doing their own work.

With domestic help wages now practically pegged at $25 a week, only the very rich will be able to afford them from here on.

Spending Hits Record High

Per capita retail spending is estimated at an all-time high of $550 annually in a recent survey by Printers Ink. This compares with $320 per capita in 1939, the last year for which there is an accurate measure of retail trade.

The basis of estimate for nearly $74 billion of retail sales in 1945 is contained in the Bureau of Census' report of retail sales by independent stores. These reports are not complete, but they do furnish a good indication of recent trends in spending.

The present figure of $550, per capita compared with $394 for the peak year of 1929. But although the war added a large amount of purchasing power to the buying scene, many high priced items which were easily obtainable in 1929, were off the market last year. There were few new cars, refrigerators, stoves, etc., sold in 1945. In addition, there were sporadic shortages of clothing, certain foodstuffs and cigarets.

Rising prices account for higher expenditures in some degree. One big new item which did not add to the retail total in 1929, is the liquor sales figures. During 1945, too, there were large sales of luxury goods, such as jewelry.

The survey divides these figures to give the per capita sales on a county-by-county basis. It was found that some counties go higher than $1,000 in per capita sales, with other down around $200. But the higher figures in the case of individual counties do not usually indicate as much a higher purchasing power of the individual as a concentration of retail trade which draws purchasers from surrounding areas.

Counties with cities like Great Falls, Mont., Amarillo, Tex., Fort Wayne, Ind., have higher per capita sales than do the areas of some of the biggest cities. Among the city areas with the largest per capita sales are Washington, D. C., San Francisco, Milwaukee, Des Moines, Atlanta, Dallas, and Seattle.

MILWAUKEE—This city had a new complaint for the books recently when C. A. Games, president of a cash register company, threatened to stop payment of taxes unless airplanes were kept away from the roof of his home. Counting sheep, he said, was nothing in comparison with trying to count the planes going over his house from a nearby air strip.

Sharp Communist gains in Paris and the industrial suburbs and a pronounced leftist trend elsewhere in the country were shown in returns from France's first vote for a new chamber of deputies.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, parents of the quintuplets, at odds with the guardians of their famous daughters expressed the belief that the 23-month-old youngsters were not getting enough to eat and that their diet should be changed. They favored soup made from fresh meat, mashed potatoes with a sprinkling of meat gravy, cooked vegetables, particularly carrots, rice and all the milk they wanted instead of what they termed "greenish mush"—mashed fresh fruit and oatmeal.

Britain Plants Corn on Naval Airfields

PORTSMOUTH, England—British naval planes will take off and land this summer amidst waving corn as the Admiralty's contribution to the drive for increased food production.

The Admiralty has ordered the planting of corn between the runways and on all spare land on its air fields in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland. It was estimated that the order would add several million bushels to Britain's corn crop.

Weather Helped Us Win

Eight-Year Pre-War and War Period Ideal for Production.

A PERIOD of eight consecutive years of remarkably favorable weather was the most important single factor in the record U. S. production of crops and livestock during World War II, according to a comprehensive survey of American agriculture just published in the 1946 Encyclopaedia Britannica Book of the Year.

J. Clyde Marquis, former director of economic information for the U. S. department of agriculture, who prepared the report, points out that a period free from any general drouth, flood or other crop disaster coincided with the period of greatest war need, with weather far more advantageous than the average for the previous 30 years.

Other Helpful Factors

Expansion of acreage, high yields and the use of more machinery were other factors recognized by the Book of the Year as aids to increased farm production.

As far as the individual civilian consumer is concerned, his allotment of U. S. agricultural products during 1945 included 130 pounds of meat, compared with 150 pounds in 1944 and 126 pounds average between 1935 and 1939; 11 pounds of butter, the lowest in 20 years, compared with 17 pounds prewar, a record consumption of 390 eggs, four and a half pounds of turkey and 438 pounds of fluid milk and cream.

During 1945, 25 per cent of all the dried fruits produced in the United States were taken for lend-lease and percentages of other foods going to lend-lease were as follows, edible fats, 17 per cent; dry whole milk, 16 per cent; beans, 14 per cent; peas, 12 per cent; canned fish, nine per cent; dry skim milk, eight per cent; meats, seven per cent; eggs, six per cent and butter, two per cent.

Between March, 1941, and April 1945, 14 per cent of all U. S. farm products by value went to other countries under the lend-lease act. The proportion of other goods being lend-leased was munitions, 50 per cent; industrial products, 20 per cent; shipping and other services, 11 per cent and oil, five per cent.

Allotments To Others

During 1944, the British received about three per cent of the total U. S. food supply, which amounted to 10 per cent of their requirements. The U.S.S.R. received two per cent of the food supply in 1944 and relatively small amounts were shipped to Africa, middle east and other Mediterranean areas with still smaller shipments to China, India and other countries.

The farmer received an average of 54 cents out of every consumer dollar spent for food products during 1945, a share slightly higher than the 1944 average and well above the 40 cent average of the 1935-39 period, according to Marquis. Year Book records show that farm operators worked about 11 hours a day, on the average, while their hired help averaged nine working hours a day.

So They Say—

Gen. George C. Kenny, senior American representative on the United Nations Military Staff Committee—"In order to enable the United Nations to take urgent military measures, members shall hold immediately available national airforce contingents for combined international enforcement action. The strength and degree of readiness of these contingents and plans for their combined action shall be determined by the Security Council with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee."

President Harry S. Truman—"Hungry people make poor disciples for democracy, and every pound of food eaten fresh from a home garden or preserved for domestic use next winter will release an equivalent amount to be shipped to the starving millions abroad."

R. J. Dearborn, chairman of the Committee on Patents and Research of the National Association of Manufacturers—"Establishment of an Office of Technical Services in the Department of Commerce would imperil free enterprise, through unwarranted government competition."

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago—"Rattling the atom bomb, stressing its destructive power, rather than exploring its limitless worth in industry, is no way to inspire trust in America's peaceful intentions."

President Felix Gouin of France—"France intends to keep her policy orientated toward peace and the United Nations Organization."

DEAR feathered friends:

I see where mr wyatt the feeeral housexpediter says he has cleared the way for production of 10A price new homes costing $4,500 to $9,000 and I think it is a good idea except that these houses can't include fingernails glass plumbing and doorknobs period new paragraph.

* * *

If you want to have the phone hung up on you fast these days call up a builder and mention $4,500 as your limit he will not even stop to ask where you want the roosts and egg boxes or if it is for bantams or full size chickens and he is not being unreasonable in view of the fact I went to a lumber yard the other day and enough wood to put a wing on a birdhouse to cost me five dollars even though I could build all the wood home in a paper bag period new paragraph.

* * *

The $4,500 limit is on homes in new orleans and the same place in new york is okayed at $9,000 which must be because the builders carpenters in a big city have more nights out and musical shows to support or maybe it costs more when it gets to be a big time deal. I will bet you that even in new orleans a $4,500 house will be constructed for the comfort nuggets only period new paragraph.

* * *

The other day I saw a blueprint of a low-cost ($9,000) house in the new york area, and it is not bad if you do not want a roof on the house and could do without doors and stairs seeing as the builder who told me all about this little house talked as if he would be stretching generous defying opa and taking a chance on perjury if he even put in floors and he asked me if I had ever been a tightwire walker which puzzled me until I found out he was thinking of stretching a few strands of wire between the rooms instead of using floorboards and if I will consent to this he would take thirty-five dollars off the total price period new paragraph.

* * *

There was a time when for $4,500 you could get a house that would last through the heavy rain and north wind and if you spent $10,000 you could get almost a showplace with walls that did not wrinkle and doors that kept their shape for months at a time but a house that kind of money today may not last longer than fish or perishable fruit and what I am afraid of is that some of the houses the veterans will get for their money will start another war and that it will be a war between them and the architects and builders period new paragraph.

* * *

Nothing is too good for a war veteran and what he needs in the housing crisis is prosecution and in my opinion he would be smart to pull a war with his wife's folks until things get a little more normal and the woodyards have wood and the builders really need a job again comma yours truly

Idle Curiosity

Another thing we want to know is why sash cords all break in the same season, most of them on a busy Sunday when the sap in children is trying to put in storm windows or take them out in a hurry.

And why it's a five-to-one bet that if a light bulb in any given socket burns out it is going to be necessary within the next week to replace 10 other bulbs, including a couple in inaccessible places.

And why it is never just one faucet that begins to drip, drip . . . "are you going to fix that Golden Boy, or will I have to give out with a scream that the neighbors will hear?" but half a dozen faucets that must be fixed in close succession with washers that are too big or too little, too thick or too thin.

And why it is never just one leak in the roof that threatens to ruin the house before it can be fixed, but always two—at the furthest possible distance from each other.

And why it is never one shingle that blows off or curls up, because one shingle might be fixed with no trouble, but half a dozen that add up to a major project.

And why, if there are two garage doors, is it one gets out of adjustment and must be fixed at risk of life and sanity the other will go on a sympathy strike at or about the same time.

And why it is never just the latch that holds one door closed which plays out but the latches on two or more doors that refuse to work will not respond to the oil can treatment.

And why the sudden descent of one window shade, roller and all, on an unwary shade puller is the signal for another one to clobber him on the head in the near future and everyone knows that two broken shades at once are more than mortal man can bear.

And why trouble with the lock on the front door or vice versa always is the forerunner of trouble with the lock on the front door or vice versa.

And why if one new magazine can't be located when it is time to settle down for a pleasant hour of reading none of the other magazines can be located either . . . and why that will be the night when not one fuse but a couple of fuses will black out and the telephone will ring not for one wrong number but for wrong numbers . . . and why it seems so true that annoyances never come singly or in pairs, processions and mobs.

After Easter

A Sermonette

By REV. EMIL C. KLUTEY

Pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church.

THE season of Lent is one of spiritual refreshment within the church. Lent culminates in the services during Holy Week and more especially on Easter Day. There is no time during the year when the churches are better attended than during Lent and on Easter. Those who worship in our churches during this period feel the inspiration which comes when large numbers of people gather to enjoy the benefits of Christian fellowship together.

But why should there be any let down in church attendance after Easter? God is still present in the midst of His people to bless them when they gather to worship in the Name of His Son Jesus. It is still the privilege of His people to sing:

"God Himself is present
Let us now adore Him,
And with awe appear before Him.
God is in His Temple—
All within keep silence,
Prostrate lie with deepest reverence.
His alone
God we own.
Him, our God and Saviour;
Praise His name forever."

There has been no more discouraging time among those who believed and followed Jesus than that immediately after the crucifixion. When Jesus died upon the cross, it seemed that all was lost. The disciples of Christ had trusted that He was the one "which should have redeemed Israel." But behold, they have crucified Him, and now it is the evening of the third day. The twelve apostles are met in an upper room in Jerusalem, with the exception of two of their number, Judas Iscariot, is not; for he who betrayed the Lord, when he realized the perfidy of his treacherous act, went out and hanged himself.

But there is another of the twelve who has absented Himself from his companions, namely Thomas. Embittered, disappointed, disheartened, Thomas has remained away from the Christian assembly on the evening of the first Easter Day. But we are told that as the apostles met in the upper room, with doors locked for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be unto you." And then He showed them the wounds in His hands and His feet and in His side; and they knew that the risen Lord was truly present with them.

What comfort and joy was brought to the hearts of the apostles of Jesus when they beheld their Lord, and realized that He was present with them! But one of their number, Thomas, failed to receive the blessing, because he was absent.

Dear Christian friend, do you realize that Jesus has given a solemn promise of His continual presence with His followers? He has said, "Lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the world." Christ is present to bestow His heavenly blessing upon those who assemble to worship in His Name. If we absent ourselves from the house of God because we our discouraged or despondent, we rob ourselves of the comfort of Christ's presence and of His divine benediction. Why not be present when God's children meet for Christian worship, so that we may hear Jesus say to us, "Peace, I leave with you my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you; let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

Portsmouth Woman Awarded Medal for Saving Girl in Fire

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 27—A 63-year-old Portsmouth, O., woman today held a bronze medal for her heroism in saving 6-year-old Betty Ann Hixon from the bedroom of her blazing home.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Haydon, received her award yesterday from the Carnegie hero fund commission. Two other Ohioans were also presented medals, one posthumously, for bravery in risking death by drowning in saving the lives of small children.

In describing Mrs. Haydon's action March 31, 1944, the commission said:

"Betty was in bed in the one room on the second floor of Mrs. Haydon home (at Oak Hill, O.) when the house caught fire." "Unable to climb the stairs because of the flames, she "ascended a ladder and by a blow with her hand enlarged the opening and climbed into the room."

Carrying the girl to the window, she became weak from the smoke and heat and fell to her knees, pushing the girl ahead of her. With the assistance of a man who climbed the ladder, both recovered.

The commission also cited Gerald Edmund Shanley, 47, who drowned in Bradey Lake Last Jan. 6 in his unsuccessful attempt to rescue 7-year-old Carl Beverly, and Miss Rita Jane Bell, 21, for her recovery of Johnnie E. Dillinger, 5, in a similar mishap.

—trains packed with people plundered both spiritually and materially. Their cry for material help is reinforced by a cry for priests, priests who could help them die humanely and give them a Christian burial.

"Never before has there been such an opportunity for the church in the German east as today."

The broadcast followed by only a few hours a report by official sources in Weisbaden, Germany, that a pastoral letter prepared by Catholic bishops on western Germany protesing Allied occupation policies had been withdrawn in the U. S. zone at the request of military government authorities.

The letter assailed Russian policies as "revolting" and attacked the denazification program and the use of German prisoners of war.

German Defendants Deny They're Split

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 27—Counsel for all defendants on trial before the international military tribunal joined today in an emphatic denial that there was any split among them, and pledged themselves against any efforts to spread Nazi or anti-Semitic propaganda during the trial.

A statement, to which all German attorneys involved have subscribed, declared that reports of "important disunity" were completely false.

The denial followed charges aired before the court this week that a reported threat by Hermann Goering to tell a "dangerous thing" about a co-defendant, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, had been transmitted by Goering's attorney to Schacht's attorney.

LEWIS THREATENING HARD COAL STRIKE

By The Associated Press

HAZELTON, Pa., April 27—John L. Lewis departed for Washington today armed with full power to sound a strike call, if necessary to pursue higher demands for higher pay, less working hours and, principally, creation of a health and welfare fund for Pennsylvania's 75,000 anthracite miners.

Authorizing filing of a 30 day strike notice April 30, the 450 delegates to the Tri-District Scale convention at the close of a three-day session here yesterday listed eight contract proposals but refrained at Lewis' behest from specifying exact terms.

Hard coal demands patterened after those of 400,000 soft coal strikers were highlighted by the hotly-controversial health and welfare issues as Lewis told the cheering delegates:

"I have no expectation of affixing my name to any contract, either for anthracite or bituminous coal miners that does not provide for the health, welfare and safety for each of the men."

The AFL United Mine Workers' hard coal agreement expires May 31.

Hard coal miners now receive $8.39 daily for a seven-hour, five-day work week. Time-and-half is paid for overtime for the sixth day of work, grossing them $54 54 for a week.

"The mine-workers of this country," Lewis said, "must be dealt with honestly, justly and humanely as the price to continue the production of coal. Your economy is being stagnated because of the iron control of financial interests of this nation and will bring distress to the American people."

BLAME

controls of the Exposition Flyer when it rammed into the standing Advance Flyer, was still being treated at an Aurora hospital for a skull fracture. He has been charged with manslaughter.

A 24-hour guard was established at the Aurora hospital, where physicians said Blaine would be confined for two or three weeks.

All Are Identified

As the several investigations continued by state, county and federal authorities as well as by Burlington officials, the last of the victims was identified and 28 of the 100 injured remained in hospital, three in critical condition.

Among witnesses will be the engineer, conductor, fireman, flagman and brakeman of the Advance Flyer, and the conductor, brakeman and flagman of the Exposition Flyer.

Trends of the early investigations indicated that authorities were concerned with Blaine's part in the wreck, the worst in the railroad's history, and with operation of the road's system of automatic controls.

Daniels said that Blaine had told him that when he first saw the signal warning that the other train was a mile and a quarter ahead he was "going too fast," and his nine-car train was "too light" to permit a stop in time. Although he applied the brakes, Daniels quoted Blaine as saying, his train, traveling about 85 miles an hour, flashed past the red warning signal and smashed into the Advance Flyer which had made an unscheduled stop to permit the crew to make an inspection of an undercarriage.

Edward Flynn, Burlington executive vice president, said that warning and stop lights were 1,100 and 6,520 feet away from the point of accident and could have been seen a mile farther away. Road spokesmen said the block control system was functioning properly.

Caledonia Man Works with V-2

A Caledonia man is a member of the army ground forces newly organized 1st AAA Guided Missile Battalion at Fort Bliss, Texas. He is Sgt. Robert L. Mitchell, a former anti-aircraft radar section chief in the Pacific theater, who has been in the army since before Pearl Harbor. He attended Caledonia High school. His wife is now living in Atlanta, Ga.

The battalion, only unit of its kind in the U. S. Army, was organized six months ago to provide ground crews and observers in the test firing of various guided missiles by the army's ordnance department. Guided missiles, of which the German V-2 is the most famous example, offer a new field in war weapons and their present state of development is comparable to that of the airplane after World War I.

Developed by Germans

The V-2, with which the battalion has worked, was developed by the Germans during the period 1938 to 1944. It was first fired against the Western Allies in October 1944. Thousands of the missiles were fired against London and the continental invasion ports with devastating effect. The Japs were never able to develop a guided missile and fell back on suicide pilots.

Top speed of the V-2 is 3,600 mph, or about five times that of the fastest airplane. It is 46 feet 3 inches long and 5 feet, five inches in diameter. It strikes without warning since it travels faster than the speed of sound. It goes faster than the projectile of any modern anti-aircraft gun and it reaches an altitude seven times greater than that yet reached by any airplane. Its range is about 200 miles. The fuels are liquid oxygen and alcohol and a single V-2 requires about 1,000 gallons of each. Range is controlled by the length of time the motor is allowed to burn. Direction is controlled by means of gyroscopes contained in the missile.

See Future Use

Guided missiles are not being developed with an eye only toward their use as weapons. Authorities say first physical contact with the moon or other planets may involve the use of a guided missile as some types are capable of operation beyond the earth's layer of air. The V-2 operates better in a vacuum than in the atmosphere where it must contend with air resistance.

"Spring Shopping" for Free Apparel Costs $150 Fine

James H. Jones, 42, a transient employe of the Erie railroad who set out apparently to get himself a new spring ensemble Friday without going through the formality of paying for it found today that shoplifting can sometimes be expensive.

Jones, a colored man who gave his address as an Erie railroad camp car, was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to charges of petty larceny in municipal court today.

He was arrested Friday at 11:37 a. m. after being chased down West Center street on a motorcycle by Patrolman C. H. Harden. When arrested he was wearing a hat which police said had been taken shortly before from the J. C. Penney store and was carrying a bag containing 16 unpaid-for shirts from Montgomery Ward.

C. A. McGrew, manager of the Penney store, said Jones slipped a cap he was wearing into his bag and put the hat on just before leaving the store. When McGrew followed him to the street he broke away and began running. Mr. McGrew called to Patrolman Hardin, who was passing on his motorcycle at the time, and Hardin caught Jones.

LAST SERVICE HELD BY U. C. Y. M. HERE

Pupils Close Series of Services in Presbyterian Church.

The final luncheon meeting of the United Christian Youth movement for the school year was held at First Presbyterian church Friday. The meetings, held every other Friday during the school years at various downtown churches for high school students, are part of the activities of the Christian Young People's union backed by the Marion County Council of Churches and the Marion County Ministerial association.

Anne Baldwin, secretary, outlined plans of the larger youth group, including U.C.Y.M., for the summer arranged "to hold the members together during vacation in a continuing bond of fellowship and activity." Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, host pastor, offered the prayer at table, Rev. Eldred Johnston led group singing, and Rev. R. W. Faulkner pronounced the benediction.

The summer schedule includes six Sunday evening meetings, and a spring retreat has been arranged at Camp Owens near Marion which five young people from each church are to attend June 21-23.

Six Sunday night services were arranged so that alternate Sundays may be used to carry on the individual church's schedule of youth work, it was explained.

First of the summer Sunday evening services of the C.Y.P.U. will be held at Epworth Methodist church June 9, beginning at 7 with "get acquainted" recreation, refreshments and devotions. A campfire service will be held at Camp Owens for the entire group June 23 following the week-end of special camp activity there. July 7, there will be a meeting similar to the first scheduled, at Trinity Baptist church, while presentation of a religious drama will take place July 21 in First Presbyterian church. Vespers at McKinley park have been planned for Aug. 4, and the closing summer meeting with election of officers will be at Central Christian church Aug. 18.

Roxas Claims Victory in Philippine Voting

By The Associated Press

MANILA, April 27 — Manuel Roxas issued a victory statement today as his lead in the Philippines' presidential race exceeded 125,000 votes, but incumbent Sergio Osmena declined to concede defeat.

Presidential Secretary Jose Reyes said Osmena planned an official statement for next week.

Roxas said he already was selecting his cabinet, and added:

"The keynote of my administration will be justice to everyone and reestablishment of a reign of law. Despite charges of Fascism against me, I am sure I am the greatest champion of democracy."

Asked to comment on an Osmena spokesman's charge that the election was "stolen," the confident Roxas said: "Seventy to 80 per cent of the people exercised their free will. There were large scale frauds in some districts, but the great majority expressed themselves freely."

4 TRAFFIC MISHAPS REPORTED BY PATROL

$750 Damage to Trucks and Automobiles.

Accidents occurred near Waldo yesterday, the state highway patrol reported. There were no injuries but the combined damage to the cars involved totals $750.

One car driven by Merle M. Terry, 21, of 467 Olney avenue, and one by Hughes, 50, of LaRue, collided at 11 a. m. 14 miles west of Marion on route 30-S. Hughes was started through an intersection when the collision occurred, patrolmen said. Damage of $170 to Hughes' truck and $65 to Terry's truck resulted.

Cars driven by Frank L. Terry, 18, of 195 Chicago avenue and Donald O. James, 28, of Iberia were involved in a sideswiping incident at 4:50 p. m. two miles east of Marion on route 30-S. Patrolmen estimated damage at $125 to the Terry car and $75 to the James car.

A car driven by George N. Kinsley 29, of Bucyrus struck a trailer loaded with straw when it was pulled by a car driven by Elmer A. Welty, 40, of near Bucyrus at 10:55 p. m. on route 199 just west of Bucyrus. Welty had stopped to wait for traffic to clear before making a left turn when Kinsley's car struck the trailer, patrolmen said. Damage of $200 was done to Kinsley's car while $5 damage was done to the trailer.

Cars driven by Fred Kohn, 28, of Youngstown and Edson A. Rinehart, 67, of near Cardington collided in Cardington on route 42 at 3:30 p. m. Patrolmen said Rinehart was attempting to make a left turn when he was struck by the Kohn car. Damage was estimated at $90 to Kohn's car and $20 to Rinehart's.

BODY OF GIRL FOUND

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 27—The decomposed body of an unidentified girl, whom coroner's physicians estimated was about five years old and dead about six months, was found last night stuffed in a small suitcase in the basement of a north side apartment building. The sample case, containing a child's red coat and other articles of clothing and an Oct. 7, 1945, issue of a Bloomington, Ill., newspaper was wrapped in an Army blanket.

MIDDIE COACH QUITS

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., April 26—After one year as basketball coach at Middletown High school, during which he piloted his team to the state Class A championship George Houck has announced his resignation to return to Wilmington as high school athletic director.

Bogota, Colombia, was founded in 1538.

Galion's First British War Bride Likes U. S., Especially Kitchens

Special to The Star

GALION, Jan. 27—First British wife of a former GI to arrive here is Mrs. Rollo P. Wilson, 22, a charming and attractive blonde. She arrived in Galion Friday with her husband who met her in New York last Thursday, April 18, when the S. S. Washington docked.

"Everything I have seen about the United States, I have liked," Mrs. Wilson said.

She is especially impressed with Americans kitchens.

They are much nicer than the ones in England, and would seem to make work much easier. In fact, the homes, here, are much nicer, too, than those in England. There are no refrigerators in homes over there like you find here. A few persons have them. Then, the stoves in England are much smaller than here, and not nearly as nice. "There are no refrigerators to buy, even if one would want to purchase one," Mrs. Wilson said.

Chocolates "Exciting"

Probably the most exciting experience she has had since she arrived was when she walked into a New York City shop and bought a box of chocolates. Candy like this has not been available in England since before the war.

To go into the stores and buy anything without coupons is another pleasant experience for Mrs. Wilson. Food and clothing are both rationed in England. In New York City the merchandise in the stores was far more attractive than any other part of the city, she said. She found it very exciting to purchase a new dress and shoes because there were no coupons to sacrifice.

In Huntington, W. Va., on her way to Galion, she found some bananas in a store. She would not like to tell how many of these she ate. There have been no bananas in England for five years for adults. Sometimes there would be a few bananas for children and Mrs. Wilson had a taste of one that was rationed to a younger member of her family.

The countryside over which she traveled from New York to Galion resembled her own, she said. There were a number of occasions, though, when she would hold her hand over her eyes because she thought her husband was driving on the wrong side of the road and that the on-coming cars would hit them. (The cars in England are driven on the left).

Amazed at Bobby Soxers

The girls in the United States dress much different and are quite unlike the English girls in actions, Mrs. Wilson has observed. In England the girls try to dress as feminine as possible and make the most of their appearance, while many girls here wear slacks rolled half way to their knees, rolled up sweater and shirt sleeves.

Colored nail "varnish" is something that Mrs. Wilson is not used to seeing.

In England there are no "bobby soxers." If girls wear socks in England, they are white, for tennis and other games.

Her mannerism suggests a person older than her 22 years. She has attended a secondary school, the Didcot Girls' School at Didcot, Berkshire England. Mrs. Wilson is a native of Didcot. Her father, H. G. Stratton, lives there with Mrs. Wilson's younger sister and a younger brother.

Just Misses Brother

She just missed seeing another brother who has been in service in India. He cabled that he was arriving in England about the time Mrs. Wilson had to sail for America. She hasn't seen him for two years.

Mrs. Wilson is the former Jeanne Stratton. She served four years in the WAAF (Women's Auxiliary to the Air Force), during the war, and met her husband during his year of service as a sergeant in England. They were stationed four miles apart at one time. They were married Oct. 28, 1944 in Grantham, Berkshire and saw last each other in Sept. 1, 1945.

Mr. Wilson resumed his work with the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co. last November when he left the service. He had been in the Army since March, 194., spending two years in Iceland a year in England and about eight months in France.

Republican Candidate for State Representative

I am serving my fifth term in the General assembly. I have no apology to offer for that service. I have tried to give to you the kind of service you would expect from your Representative. My length of service and tax experience has given to me the Chairmanship of the Taxation Committee, the most important committee of the House. Many important Tax Bills will come to the House at the next regular session which will convene January 1st, 1947. Do you want experience to represent you in that session? I believe in and have fought to retain Local Units of Government. I was one of those who worked for and supported the Bill giving Local Government a larger share of the Sales Tax, and Local Government is now receiving the increase. The war is over, and instead of piling up a huge surplus each year, I favor and will support a bill returning the one cent liquid fuel tax to the Highway fund from which it was taken six years ago. I supported all school legislation including the over-riding of the Governor's veto. That additional money belonged to the people and not to the state.
If nominated and elected I will continue that same policy. My labor record has never been questioned. I supported every bill pertaining to veteran's legislation.
If you think my record merits another two years, I will appreciate your influence and support. I will be happy to abide by your decision.
